Rainfall Brings Danger of Flood

Another heavy rainfall, measuring nearly three inches, in less than a week has posed a threat to flooding of several state and county roads in the Pickaway County area.

State and county highway officials were keeping a close watch on roads in the area at noon today as water began flooding the banks of smaller streams.

The Scioto River measured

12.5 feet at noon and is expected to crest at about 19 feet tomorrow afternoon.

Areas being affected by the torrential rainfall included Route 56 southeast near Laurelville and Route 56 west of Circleville. However, both state and county highway departments reported that all roads were open to traffic, but advised motorists to drive with caution since low areas can be flooded "almost instantaneously."

The rain gauge listed an official 2.30 inches within the 24-hour period from 8 a. m. yesterday to 8 a. m. today. Another 0.54 of an inch fell between 8 a. m. and noon today. Total rainfall for the month now stands at 7.26 inches.

THE FORECAST for this afternoon and tonight is more rain, thunderstorms and colder. Occasional rain is expected tomorrow with a predicted high of 40-44 degrees.

No city streets were reported under water at noon, according to local police. However, some low areas were beginning to fill especially in the northend.

Police reported several flooded basement complaints, indications that water was building up faster than storm sewers could carry it away.

Greek King's Body Taken To Cathedral

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The body of King Paul of Greece, straped to a gun carriage and followed by members of his grieving family, moved slowly through the hushed and crowded streets of the Greek capital today to lie in state in the Greek Orthodox cathedral.

Servicemen at attention lined both sides of the mile-long route through downtown Athens from the royal palace.

Walking behind the gun carriage were the new king, Paul's son, Constantine, 23; the widowed Queen Frederika, and other members of the royal family.

The 62-year-old monarch, who had reigned 17 years, died Friday of complications following stomach surgery Feb. 21.

The body will lie in state for three days, and the state funeral will be held Thursday.

In Washington, President Johnson announced that his wife and former President Harry S. Truman would head the American delegation to the funeral.

Ohio Senators Rap Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both Ohio senators have voiced strong opposition to a bill that would raise salaries of members of Congress by $10,000 a year to $32,500.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche said he would vote against the bill and asserted those who voted for it should be defeated at the next election. He said he thought Congress would pass the salary-increase measure.

Stephen M. Young, interviewed at a campaign appearance in Cleveland, said "the pay raise legislation would be a fantastic raid on the public treasury."

Ohio River Rising As Tributaries Continue Climb

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fed by scattered showers that are expected to continue through tonight, the Ohio River continued to rise toward flood stage over the weekend.

The reading at Cincinnati was 48.9 feet at 6 p. m., and the Weather Bureau expected the river to rise to 49.5 feet by 7 a. m. today and to reach 51 feet Tuesday.

Flood stage at Cincinnati is 52 feet, although little damage occurred until the water rises to around 60 feet. The Weather Bureau said no crest forecasts would be made until after the new rainfall is evaluated.

The bureau said it had no reports of flooding in the Cincinnati area.

Further upstream, the Ohio was expected to reach flood stage at Maysville, Ky., at 7 a. m. Tuesday. Flood stage there is 50 feet and the river was expected to reach 48.5 feet this morning and continue rising.

At Portsmouth, where flood stage is also 50 feet, the river was to reach 47 feet this morning and 48 feet by 7 a. m. Tuesday.

Below Cincinnati, the Weather Bureau forecast a river level of 48 feet at the Markland, Ind., dam by 7 a. m., and a 49-foot level by early Tuesday. Flood stage there is 51 feet.

Oil Boom Regulations Due Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State officials plan to start reining in Ohio's galloping oil boom with some new regulations to be filed Tuesday.

The regulations are to supplement the limited control Ohio's Division of Mines exercises over rapidly expanding drilling operations in the northern part of the state.

They are expected, among other things, to space out drilling by allowing one well per 10-acre plot, prohibit slant drilling into someone else's oil pool and cancel all permits outstanding where drilling hasn't actually begun.

John M. McElroy, the governor's No. 1 assistant, said there will be no attempt in these regulations to establish production limits. He said later regulations might also spell out conditions for slant drilling where no other approach is possible.

Normally, such regulations would not go into effect for 60 days after filing with Ohio's secretary of state. But Gov. James A. Rhodes is expected to declare this an emergency situation, making the regulations effective immediately.

A court test is considered possible, particularly from some of the land owners who are benefiting from the oil boom.

Ruby Defense Is Aided by Former Boxer

Barney Ross Tells of Display Of Quick Temper

DALLAS (AP)—Barney Ross, former world welterweight boxing champion, testified today that Jack Ruby as a teen-age boy "used to steam up and turn purple" when anyone disagreed with him.

Ross said he knew Ruby in Chicago when they were boys. The former boxer was the second witness as the fourth week of Ruby's murder trial began. Ruby is charged with murder with malice for having shot down Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Ross said he and Ruby grew up on Chicago's West Side. He said he and the accused man were members of what he called "the group," a band of about 12 boys.

He pictured Ruby as a youth who "flew into tantrums" over trifles. He said, "we knew he would steam up pretty quick and we used to protect him."

Ross said that so far as he knew Ruby had never had any trouble with the police.

Chief defense counsel Melvin Belli asked Ross if Ruby was given to using profanity.

The ex-boxer replied in the negative.

Belli asked if the phrase, "son of a bitch," was commonly used by Ruby and he said it was not. The question bears on a statement attributed to Ruby by police. They quoted him as saying after he shot Oswald, "I hope the son of a bitch dies."

Ross, member of the Marine Corps during World War II, said he knew Ruby as a "patriotic, red-blooded American." Ruby was in the Air Corps.

The defense was moving steadily toward the heart of Ruby's defense—their contention that he was in an emotional trance when he killed Oswald and did not know what he was doing.

Strip teaser Patricia Ann Kohns, 21, who once performed in one of Ruby's Dallas night clubs, is expected to testify that Ruby once beat up a tax driver, then suddenly asked: "What am I doing?"

Similarly, defense attorney Joe Tonahill questioned a Dallas policeman about Ruby's reactions immediately after Oswald was killed.

Tonahill asked: "And when you said to Jack, 'Why did you do it?' he replied, 'Do what?' Isn't that a fact?"

The officer denied hearing Ruby say this.

Sgt. P. T. Dean quoted Ruby as saying he thought about killing Oswald on the Friday night of the President's assassination. That was two days before Ruby killed Oswald, Dean testified.

"He (Ruby) said when he saw that sarcastic sneer on Oswald's face that was one of the first times he thought of killing him."

Both of the alleged remarks countered the defense contention that Ruby was in an emotional "blackout," had no motive for killing Oswald and did not premeditate the shooting.

Belli tried hard to shake this testimony, but Dean stuck to his report of what Ruby said.

Girl, 2, Due To Lose Eye

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Vicki Wray, a 2-year-old cancer victim who received gifts at Christmas from hundreds of persons throughout the nation, will have her remaining eye removed today.

Vicki, daughter of a $50-a-week Bowling Green, S.C., textile worker who has eight other children, received nationwide attention after doctors at Duke University Hospital said cancer might claim her left eye. She lost her right eye to the disease in July.

Christmas gifts poured into the Wray home and a fund set up in the blonde tot's name exceeded $17,000.

Saturday about 50 children helped Vicki celebrate her third birthday three weeks early at a backyard party. She will be three March 27.

Poverty War Seen Lowering Draft Age

First Primary Due Tuesday

New Hampshire Said Undecided

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—A cloud of indecision which could have a telling effect on the choice of the Republican presidential nominee hung heavily today over the outcome of Tuesday's New Hampshire primary.

There was widespread evidence that a significant number of Republicans who will go to the polls Tuesday to mark one of the more complex ballots in presidential preference primary history still are debating their choice.

This highlighted an invitation for upsets in a contest which Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., once was supposed to win handily in a battle with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Though Rockefeller and Goldwater seemed likely to pace the field of five official and two write-in entries, partisans thought that Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, might come up to challenge them.

Lodge and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 presidential nominee, were represented in write-in campaigns. If these were successful in gaining a substantial share of the nearly 100,000 Republican votes expected to be cast, it could project them forcefully into the presidential nomination contest.

For Goldwater, the conservative, and Rockefeller, the moderate, there was the psychological need to win this contest, their first outing. Both vowed to continue their quest for nomination in victory or defeat.

But both looked to the June 2 California primary as the payoff derby after running this preliminary heat.

Almost nothing was heard of support for former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen, once a power in Republican councils.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, whose name also appears on the ballot, might have done better in New Hampshire if she had not returned to Washington to protect her never-absent Senate roll call record.

Negro Cleric Is Freed by High Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court overturned today the conviction of the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, Negro of Birmingham, Ala., on a charge of interfering with police in the city.

The interference was alleged to have occurred May 17, 1961 when police took a group of Freedom Riders into "protective custody" at the Greyhound bus station in Birmingham.

Reversal of the conviction was ordered by the Supreme Court in a brief order. It noted that Justice Byron R. White took no part. This made the vote 8-0.

Shuttlesworth denied any interference with police and said he was convicted "without evidence of guilt."

Counsel for Birmingham argued that the minister "hindered or interfered" with police who believed it was necessary to remove Freedom Riders to prevent a riot.

The minister was sentenced to 180 days in jail and fined $100.

Ohio Cigarette Tax Falls behind '63 Take

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio cigarette tax collections have fallen behind last year's totals for the first time since the federal health report, State Treasurer John Herbert reported today.

Revenue from Ohio's 5 cents-a-pack levy since the start of the bookkeeping year last July 1 totaled $45,158,835 through last week, compared with $45,198,908 for the similar period a year ago, figures showed.

New Fighting Plagues Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Heavy fighting resumed today in the port town of Kitima on the west coast of Cyprus, shattering a weekend of skirmishes and surging mobs.

The Greek Cypriot government said its forces had launched an all-out attack and that the Turkish Cypriots were in retreat. A Greek police officer said his men would have the predominantly Greek town under control by noon.

A British commander and a U.N. official were reported pinned by Turkish fire in a Greek Cypriot police station. A British spokesman said the Turks had agreed to a truce, but the Greeks had refused.

Indian Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, commander of the proposed U.N. police force, arranged an urgent meeting with President Makarios and then planned to fly by helicopter to the battle area.

Government sources said the Turks opened fire at dawn without provocation from a minaret towering over the market place. A Greek Cypriot government spokesman in Nicosia said the government retaliated with an "all-out attempt by security forces to improve law and order."

Telephone communications to the embattled town were out, but the government spokesman said firing was continuous and the security forces were gaining ground.

The British said the Greek Cypriot police superintendent of the Kitima-Paphos district, Dimitri Papageorge, had refused to deal with anyone except Gyani.

Papageorge apparently was reflecting the new tough line of the Makarios government in accepting local truce arrangements. The government accused the Turks last week of using the cease-fires to slip into offensive positions before the arrival of the U.N. force.

Gyani had flown to Kitima

Sunday after a battle Saturday in which six Greeks and a Turk were killed and at least a score of persons were injured. Most of the casualties were from Turkish fire from the same minaret. The Turks took more than 200 Greek hostages.

With Kitima's market place still a confusion of overturned tables, dead pigs and scattered vegetables, the truce officers achieved a cease-fire and promises from the Turks to release the hostages. After Gyani returned to Nicosia, the Turks freed 37 more Greeks, bringing the total number of hostages released in Kitima to 265.

Sioux Stake Their Claim On Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five Sioux Indians who landed on Alcatraz and staked claims to the island site of the abandoned federal prison said Sunday night that they withdrew under threat by the angered warden in charge of a six-man caretaker garrison.

"But we achieved our purpose—staking out our claim," said their leader, Allen Cottier, 42, of San Leandro, Calif. He is president of the San Francisco Bay area branch of the American Indian Council.

Warden Richard Willard said, "I told their attorney, 'If anything happens and any of my people get scratched up, that's a felony.' I asked them again to leave and they did."

The Indians were on the rock about four hours before they heeded the advice of their attorney, Elliott Leighton of San Francisco to leave.

Leighton explained that the Alcatraz invasion was a protest against the 47 cents an acre awarded as a settlement by the government for land taken from California Indians.

He said the claims to the 20-acre rock with 12 usable acres were staked under terms of an 1868 treaty which allowed non-reservation Indians to file for up to 40 acres of government land "not used for a specific purpose."

Noted Psychiatrist Dies at Age of 73

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Franz Alexander, 73, pioneer in modern psychiatric methods, died Sunday apparently of a heart attack. He was director of the Department of Psychiatry and of the Psychiatric and Psychosomatic Research Institute at Mt. Sinai Hospital in Los Angeles.

Alexander, who was born in Budapest, came to the University of Chicago in 1932. Two years later he became the first director of the Chicago Institute of Psychoanalysis and held the post 24 years.

37 Collegians Arrested For 'Orgy' Held in Hotel

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Thirty-seven college students will appear in court today on charges stemming from what one policeman termed a "regular orgy" at a well-known downtown hotel.

The defendants, 22 males and 15 females, were arrested early Sunday when police raided a fraternity dance and rooms at the Claypool Hotel because of noisy conduct.

"What they had was a regular orgy," said Robert Gigure, a vice squad patrolman. "We would have had to get a pickup truck to haul all the beer cans away."

The officer said one student, dressed only in shorts, was arrested as he chased a coed down a hallway. Several coeds were dressed only in negligees.

The charges included entering the bedroom of a member of the opposite sex, disorderly conduct, public indecency, underage drinking and larceny.

One student was seized with a neon telephone sign taken from the hotel lobby.

The male students and their dates were attending an annual statewide undergraduate meeting of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity. Police said about 600 students were attending the convention. The defendants are students at Indiana, Purdue and DePauw universities and Wash and Hanover colleges.

An excise officer said he found students drinking at the fraternity's dance. He called police who stopped the dance on the mezzanine and then heard loud noise from upper floors of the hotel.

Gigure said beer cans and bottles were being thrown out of hotel windows onto Washington Street, which carries U.S. 40 traffic through the heart of Indianapolis.

Tracing the noise from room to room, police made the arrests.

It took two hours and a dozen paddy wagon trips to take the young people to jail, where they spent several hours until bonds were made. All were released on bond by Sunday night.

One of the coeds commented: "That's what I always wanted, a criminal police record. A good thing to tell your kids, 'I spent the night in the pokey, picked up on sex charges.' That slays me."

One man bailing his daughter out of jail said, "I thought she had been in an accident when police called. Thank God it's only this."

17-Year-Old Dropouts Get Closer Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson will ask Congress to lower the draft age from 18 to 17 to give his "war on poverty" a chance to aid needy youngsters a year earlier, an official source reported today.

These subjects for the war on poverty, the source said, will be the 500,000 each year who fail the Army's General Classification Test. They will be given a chance to enter special work schools where they will take special education and vocational courses.

Sources close to the planning said the change would have no effect on the likelihood or timing of actual callup of the younger registrants, for service in the armed forces. Draft calls are filled from the ranks of the oldest eligibles, with those in the lower 20s being called now. The 17-year-olds found qualified for service would increase the size of the pool of eligibles but they would be at the bottom of the list, as 18-year-olds are now.

Searching for a practical approach to the problem of school dropouts, the task force assisting Sargent Shriver, head of the war on poverty, decided the draft was the ideal screening device to pinpoint young men who need extra help.

All youngsters must take a general psychological and intelligence test when they register for the draft at 18.

"There are some 500,000 youngsters each year who fail this test," the high official source said. "You know if they fail this test, they're probably going to fail any test, and they're probably not going to be able to hold down any decent job."

"If Selective Service hadn't existed, we probably would have had to create it. It's perfect for our purpose. This gives us names and addresses of persons who need help."

Originally, the source said, Shriver wanted to lower the draft age to 16, but technical problems made this impossible. He added, "that lowering it to 17 gives us a year's head start in trying to reclaim these youths."

The special schools, or academies as they probably will be called, will be similar to the work camps of the old Civilian (Continued on Page Two)

Chillicothe Fire Watch Is Kept On Hot Commode

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—The Ira McCorkle family in Chillicothe is having its troubles. The commode keeps catching on fire.

Firemen were watching the situation today after the McCorkle's bathroom caught fire for the second time since last Friday.

It all started on that day when a truck pouring gasoline into tanks at a service station one-half block from the McCorkle residence overfilled the tanks by more than 300 gallons.

The fire department proceeded to flush the gasoline down a storm sewer. Later, the department was called to douse a blaze in the McCorkle's bathroom that caused an estimated $50 damage.

Early today, the commode in the McCorkle home blew up, setting the bathroom on fire again, this time causing an estimated $75 damage.

Ohio Cigarette Tax Falls behind '63 Take

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio cigarette tax collections have fallen behind last year's totals for the first time since the federal health report, State Treasurer John Herbert reported today.

Revenue from Ohio's 5 cents-a-pack levy since the start of the bookkeeping year last July 1 totaled $45,158,835 through last week, compared with $45,198,908 for the similar period a year ago, figures showed.

New Fighting Plagues Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Heavy fighting resumed today in the port town of Kitima on the west coast of Cyprus, shattering a weekend of skirmishes and surging mobs.

The Greek Cypriot government said its forces had launched an all-out attack and that the Turkish Cypriots were in retreat. A Greek police officer said his men would have the predominantly Greek town under control by noon.

A British commander and a U.N. official were reported pinned by Turkish fire in a Greek Cypriot police station. A British spokesman said the Turks had agreed to a truce, but the Greeks had refused.

Indian Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, commander of the proposed U.N. police force, arranged an urgent meeting with President Makarios and then planned to fly by helicopter to the battle area.

Government sources said the Turks opened fire at dawn without provocation from a minaret towering over the market place. A Greek Cypriot government spokesman in Nicosia said the government retaliated with an "all-out attempt by security forces to improve law and order."

Telephone communications to the embattled town were out, but the government spokesman said firing was continuous and the security forces were gaining ground.

The British said the Greek Cypriot police superintendent of the Kitima-Paphos district, Dimitri Papageorge, had refused to deal with anyone except Gyani.

Papageorge apparently was reflecting the new tough line of the Makarios government in accepting local truce arrangements. The government accused the Turks last week of using the cease-fires to slip into offensive positions before the arrival of the U.N. force.

Gyani had flown to Kitima

Noted Psychiatrist Dies at Age of 73

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Franz Alexander, 73, pioneer in modern psychiatric methods, died Sunday apparently of a heart attack. He was director of the Department of Psychiatry and of the Psychiatric and Psychosomatic Research Institute at Mt. Sinai Hospital in Los Angeles. Alexander, who was born in Budapest, came to the University of Chicago in 1932. Two years later he became the first director of the Chicago Institute of Psychoanalysis and held the post 24 years.

37 Collegians Arrested For 'Orgy' Held in Hotel

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Thirty-seven college students will appear in court today on charges stemming from what one policeman termed a "regular orgy" at a well-known downtown hotel.

The defendants, 22 males and 15 females, were arrested early Sunday when police raided a fraternity dance and rooms at the Claypool Hotel because of noisy conduct.

"What they had was a regular orgy," said Robert Gigure, a vice squad patrolman. "We would have had to get a pickup truck to haul all the beer cans away."

The officer said one student, dressed only in shorts, was arrested as he chased a coed down a hallway. Several coeds were dressed only in negligees.

The charges included entering the bedroom of a member of the opposite sex, disorderly conduct, public indecency, underage drinking and larceny.

One student was seized with a neon telephone sign taken from the hotel lobby.

The male students and their dates were attending an annual statewide undergraduate meeting of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity. Police said about 600 students were attending the Sunday after a battle Saturday in which six Greeks and a Turk were killed and at least a score of persons were injured. Most of the casualties were from Turkish fire from the same minaret. The Turks took more than 200 Greek hostages.

With Kitima's market place still a confusion of overturned tables, dead pigs and scattered vegetables, the truce officers achieved a cease-fire and promised the Turks to release the hostages. After Gyani returned to Nicosia, the Turks freed 37 more Greeks, bringing the total number of hostages released in Kitima to 265.

Sioux Stake Their Claim On Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five Sioux Indians who landed on Alcatraz and staked claims to the island site of the abandoned federal prison said Sunday night that they withdrew under threat by the angered warden in charge of a six-man caretaker garrison.

"But we achieved our purpose—stake out our claim," said their leader, Allen Cotier, 42, of San Leandro, Calif. He is president of the San Francisco Bay area branch of the American Indian Council.

Warden Richard Willard said, "I told their attorney, 'If anything happens and any of my people get scratched up, that's a felony.' I asked them again to leave and they did."

The Indians were on the rock about four hours before they heeded the advice of their attorney, Elliott Leighton of San Francisco to leave.

Leighton explained that the Alcatraz invasion was a protest against the 47 cents an acre awarded as a settlement by the government for land taken from California Indians.

He said the claims to the 20-acre rock with 12 usable acres were staked under terms of an 1868 treaty which allowed non-reservation Indians to file for up to 40 acres of government land "not used for a specific purpose."

Chillicothe Fire Watch Is Kept On Hot Commode

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—The Ira McCorkle family in Chillicothe is having its troubles. The commode keeps catching on fire.

Firemen were watching the situation today after the McCorkle's bathroom caught fire for the second time since last Friday.

It all started on that day when a truck pouring gasoline into tanks at a service station one-half block from the McCorkle residence overfilled the tanks by more than 300 gallons.

The fire department proceeded to flush the gasoline down a storm sewer. Later, the department was called to douse a blaze in the McCorkle's bathroom that caused an estimated $50 damage.

Early today, the commode in the McCorkle home blew up, setting the bathroom on fire again, this time causing an estimated $75 damage.

One of the coeds commented: "That's what I always wanted, a criminal police record. A good thing to tell your kids, 'I spent the night in the pokey, picked up on sex charges.' That says me."

One man bailing his daughter out of jail said, "I thought she had been in an accident when police called. Thank God it's only this."

17-Year-Old Dropouts Get Closer Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson will ask Congress to lower the draft age from 18 to 17 to give his "war on poverty" a chance to aid needy youngsters a year earlier, an official source reported today.

These subjects for the war on poverty, the source said, will be the 500,000 each year who fail the Army's General Classification Test. They will be given a chance to enter special work schools where they will take special education and vocational courses.

Sources close to the planning said the change would have no effect on the likelihood or timing of actual callup of the younger registrants, for service in the armed forces. Draft calls are filled from the ranks of the oldest eligibles, with those in the lower 20s being called now. The 17-year-olds found qualified for service would increase the size of the pool of eligibles but they would be at the bottom of the list, as 18-year-olds are now.

Searching for a practical approach to the problem of school dropouts, the task force assisting Sargent Shriver, head of the war on poverty, decided the draft was the ideal screening device to pinpoint young men who need extra help.

All youngsters must take a general psychological and intelligence test when they register for the draft at 18.

"There are some 500,000 youngsters each year who fail this test," the high official source said. "You know if they fail this test, they're probably going to fail any test, and they're probably not going to be able to hold down any decent job."

"If Selective Service hadn't existed, we probably would have had to create it. It's perfect for our purpose. This gives us names and addresses of persons who need help."

Originally, the source said, Shriver wanted to lower the draft age to 16, but technical problems made this impossible. He added, "that lowering it to 17 gives us a year's head start in trying to reclaim these youths."

The special schools, or academies as they probably will be called, will be similar to the work camps of the old Civilian

Stiff Kidnap Rap Decried

Appeal Planned In Sinatra Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Families of two young men sentenced to life in prison for kidnapping Frank Sinatra Jr. hope the sentence will be reduced and attorneys for all three defendants say they'll appeal the convictions.

The families and attorneys contend the jury was wrong.

Attorney George Forde, after speaking to the family of 23-year-old Joseph Amisler, said: "They told me the verdict was wrong—that it doesn't change their views, and that the sentences were so excessive as to be beyond the sense of reality."

The other two defendants were Barry Keenan, also 23, and John Irwin, 42. Keenan and Amisler, who abducted the 20-year-old singer from a Lake Tahoe, Calif., motel Dec. 8, were convicted Saturday on all six counts of a federal grand jury indictment.

They were both sentenced to life imprisonment plus 75 years, but first will undergo psychiatric examination. Federal Judge William G. East, in sentencing the pair Saturday, said their prison terms may be modified after the tests are completed in about 90 days at the Federal Medical Facility in Springfield, Mo.

Irwin's sentencing was postponed pending completion of a probation report. He was convicted on five counts, could serve 75 years in prison. He was acquitted of taking part in the actual abduction, for which the others got life terms.

The defense throughout the trial maintained the kidnapping was a publicity stunt and that young Sinatra knew about it in advance. The jury rejected the hoax claim.

Heavy Rains

ports of roads already immersed and impassable pointed to possible flood problems along tributary streams in Southern and Central Ohio.

The Weather Bureau at Port Columbus said preliminary figures indicated that the heavy rainfall in the Columbus area was over and only minor flooding might occur.

However, south of Columbus, the bureau said the Scioto is expected to rise several feet above flood stage.

The Hocking River is expected to rise a little above flood stage but no serious flooding is expected unless considerably more rain falls.

The patrol said early today that several state routes in Scioto, Meigs, Athens, Vinton and Coshocton counties were closed.

Violent rainstorms, wind and hail pounded sections of the Midwest and Southwest today, causing considerable property damage, inundating streets and swelling some rivers toward flood stage.

Severe windstorms tore through sections of Texas, Missouri and Illinois, but no injuries were reported.

The severe weather struck an area from western Ohio to northeastern Texas.

A tornado was reported to have struck down 10 miles south of Lutesville in southwestern Missouri, but no damage was reported.

Strong winds ripped through Aviston in Southern Illinois, damaging buildings, blowing down tree limbs and causing power failure.

In Waco, Tex., blinding winds tore through some areas causing considerable property damage.

Heavy rains accompanied the winds in some areas, bringing fears of river flooding.

Six highways were closed by flooding in eastern Kentucky. Families began preparations to evacuate their homes as the Kentucky River neared flood stage. The river rose 16 inches in one hour during the height of a torrential storm.

Stock Mart Prices Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — Motors, steel, copper and aluminum posted gains as the stock market nudged into record high ground early this afternoon. Trading was active.

Gains of key stocks were mostly fractional with some going to a point or so.

Industrials made definite progress while utilities were mixed. Ralls edged higher. The trend was generally higher among rubbers, mail order-retails, drugs, cigarette issues and electronics. Oils were unchanged to a shade lower.

The pattern was mixed among building materials, electrical equipments, chemicals, aerospace stocks and farm implements.

The business news background included price boosts for aluminum fabricated products, increased production schedules for Ford following record sales and a report that business spending for plant and equipment is expected to rise 10 per cent this year.

Manson Heads Elections Board

Pickaway County Board of Elections named Milton P. Manson as chairman during a reorganizational meeting.

Manson, a Democrat, succeeds Frank L. Marion, also a Democrat, as chairman. Republican members of the elections board are Ned Dresbach and Miss Lucille Dumm.

During a brief business meeting, the board employed Mrs. Thelma Trimmer, Route 4, to serve another two-year term as clerk.

Scout Units Rechartered During Roundtable Meet

Scoutleaders of Pickaway District rechartered their units for the coming year at a Roundtable meeting in the Lutheran Parish House.

The meeting was opened by Marvin Spradlin, a scout of Troop 321. Ken Luna, organization and extension chairman, directed the rechartering, which included recording of new scouts and leaders.

Attending the Roundtable were den mothers Uretta Frazier, June Eitel, Dena Keaton, Jane Morrow, Doris Russell, and Lavonne Spradlin; cubmasters Bob Armentrout, Paul Eitel, Steve Jones, Albert Johnson, Glen McFarland, Ken Sowers, Herb Seymour, Bill Spradlin, and Joe Wright; scoutmasters Orban Burchwell, Ray Haley, Howard Russell and Bob Turvey; troop committeemen D. L. Bumen, Emerson Cline, and Del Moore; institutional representatives John Hartley, Jim Peters, and Bob Rowland; neighborhood commissioner Ovid Clark; Jim Farinet, district executive; and district committeemen David Amos, Gerald Ayers, Dick Compton, Harry Diehl, Ken

Luna, Jack Walters and Gary Winner.

Members of Explorer Post 3 present were Fred Cullums, John Thomas, Carl Stonerock, Roy Strawser, Ray Winner, and Fred Wittich. Jack Cheney and David Massie represented the newly formed Post 1, with 13 members, sponsored by the Church of Latter Day Saints, Post 1 meets in the Masonic Hall.

Dick Compton, of the District Leadership Training Committee, announced a Show'n'Do for March 15, 1-5 p. m. at the 4-H Grange Hall. All patrol leaders, their assistants, and senior patrol leaders are urged to attend, as the subject will be Second Class Requirements.

Gerald Ayers, activities chairman, announced that seven units have signed up for booths at the June 12-13-14 Paul Bunyon Exposition, a giant display of Scout activities at the Ohio State Fairgrounds. The units and their subjects are as follows: Troop 157, New and Old; 170, Knot Board; 479, Gun Safety; 484, World's Fastest Knot Tiers; Cub Pack 157, Splatter Painting or Carnival Act; 179, Bowling Alley; 320, Know Your Neighborhood; Post 3, Crew 1, Building of giant 40-foot Pinewood Derby racer; Post 3 Crew 2, will assist in the Auto Road-A-O.

The April 20 District Committee Meeting will present the Central Ohio Area Council budget. All persons interested in learning the disposition of Scouting's share of the Community Fund are urged to attend this meeting, 7:30 p. m. at the Lutheran Parish House.

The next District Committee Meeting will be March 16. District committeemen and institutional representatives have this meeting the third Monday of each month.

Woman Hurt In Collision

Mrs. Ethel Hoover, 61, Route 3, was hospitalized Saturday following a two-car accident on Kingston Pike, four miles south of here.

Mrs. Hoover was traveling south. Sheriff's deputies said she turned left into the path of a car driven by Charles Schlegler, 47, Route 1.

Mrs. Hoover sustained a fractured knee and lacerations of the forehead. She was admitted to Berger Hospital.

Schlegler was treated for a laceration of the forehead in the emergency room at the hospital. Mrs. Hoover was cited for failure to yield the right of way by Deputy William Pontious.

Accused Burglar Shot Near Cincinnati Tavern

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joseph L. Purifoy, 26, remained in serious condition at General Hospital today with a gunshot wound suffered in what police said was an attempted burglary.

Police said Purifoy dashed from a tavern early Sunday morning after a cruiser arrived in response to a burglar alarm. They said he ignored orders to stop and a patrolman shot him in the shoulder. Two other men were held for questioning.

Conservation Corps (CCC) in that they will remove underprivileged youngsters from poor home environments.

But instead of concentrating on outdoor work projects as did the CCC of New Deal days, the new academies will lean heavily on education and vocational projects.

Johnson also called on the nation today to mobilize and upgrade its manpower skills in a major effort to wipe out grimly persistent unemployment.

"Overcoming that unemployment is the greatest immediate manpower challenge before us," Johnson said in asking Congress for a broad range of legislation to create jobs and train workers.

The federal government cannot do the job alone, Johnson said in his annual manpower report to Congress.

Calling on business, labor and state and local governments to cooperate in creating an "active manpower policy," the President said: "These programs will take hold and succeed only when we become determined that nothing is to take priority over people."

Johnson's report was accompanied by Labor Department statistics emphasizing the plight of the poorly educated worker in an increasingly technical economy, and the alarmingly high rate of youths who can't find work.

Johnson's message was underscored by latest government figures showing that 800,000 new jobs in February did nothing to dent the nation's 4.5 million jobless total.

The reason is the steadily growing flow of new workers into the labor market, particularly youths. Automated machinery that shrinks job opportunities also plays a part.

Johnson announced "two new major administrative actions" to study the impact of automation, and "to start a continuing top-level assessment of the relation of the government's programs and our country's manpower assets and needs."

He asked Congress to enact pending legislation dealing with youth unemployment, education extension of labor laws to include more workers and increased and broadened unemployment insurance.

Bar Burglars Eat, Drink During Entry

Burglars, displaying indications of thirst and hunger, entered the Circle Bar at 105 E. Ohio St. during the weekend.

City police said the intruders ate several sandwiches and drank a quantity of gin. Three cigarette lighters, two fifths of whiskey and one pint of vodka were reported taken.

Sgt. Turney Ross said coin containers were forced from juke boxes on the bar and a nearby bowling machine. He said beer coolers were left open, indicating the burglars were looking for money.

Entry was gained by forcing a back window where an exhaust fan is located. The burglary was reported yesterday morning by Densil Arledge, manager of the firm.

Police today were trying to connect the entry with one committed last weekend at the Scioto to Elks, about two blocks away at Scioto and Ohio Sts.

Man Sentenced On Check Charge

John Bowsher, London, was sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary Friday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for issuing a check with no account in the bank.

Bowsher, indicted on three similar counts by the January Grand Jury, changed his original plea of innocent to guilty on one of the check charges. Judge William Ammer sentenced him to a term of 1-3 years in the penal institution. The other two charges were dismissed.

Heavy Rains

ports of roads already immersed and impassable pointed to possible flood problems along tributary streams in Southern and Central Ohio.

The Weather Bureau at Port Columbus said preliminary figures indicated that the heavy rainfall in the Columbus area was over and only minor flooding might occur.

However, south of Columbus, the bureau said the Scioto is expected to rise several feet above flood stage.

The Hocking River is expected to rise a little above flood stage but no serious flooding is expected unless considerably more rain falls.

The patrol said early today that several state routes in Scioto, Meigs, Athens, Vinton and Coshocton counties were closed.

Violent rainstorms, wind and hail pounded sections of the Midwest and Southwest today, causing considerable property damage, inundating streets and swelling some rivers toward flood stage.

Severe windstorms tore through sections of Texas, Missouri and Illinois, but no injuries were reported.

The severe weather struck an area from western Ohio to northeastern Texas.

A tornado was reported to have struck down 10 miles south of Lutesville in southwestern Missouri, but no damage was reported.

Strong winds ripped through Aviston in Southern Illinois, damaging buildings, blowing down tree limbs and causing power failure.

In Waco, Tex., blinding winds tore through some areas causing considerable property damage.

Heavy rains accompanied the winds in some areas, bringing fears of river flooding.

Six highways were closed by flooding in eastern Kentucky. Families began preparations to evacuate their homes as the Kentucky River neared flood stage. The river rose 16 inches in one hour during the height of a torrential storm.

Stock Mart Prices Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—Motors, steels, coppers and aluminum posted gains as the stock market nudged into record high ground early this afternoon. Trading was active.

Gains of key stocks were mostly fractional with some going to a point or so.

Industrials made definite progress while utilities were mixed. Ralls edged higher. The trend was generally higher among rubbers, mail order-retails, drugs, cigarette issues and electronics. Oils were unchanged to a shade lower. The pattern was mixed among building materials, electrical equipments, chemicals, aerospace stocks and farm implements.

The business news background included price boosts for aluminum fabricated products, increased production schedules for Ford following record sales and a report that business spending for plant and equipment is expected to rise 10 per cent this year.

Manson Heads Elections Board

Pickaway County Board of Elections named Milton P. Manson as chairman during a reorganizational meeting.

Manson, a Democrat, succeeds Frank L. Marion, also a Democrat, as chairman. Republican members of the elections board are Ned Dresbach and Miss Lucille Dumm.

During a brief business meeting, the board employed Mrs. Thelma Trimmer, Route 4, to serve another two-year term as clerk.

Scout Units Rechartered During Roundtable Meet

Scoutleaders of Pickaway District rechartered their units for the coming year at a Roundtable meeting in the Lutheran Parish House.

The meeting was opened by Marvin Spradlin, a scout of Troop 321. Ken Luna, organizer and extension chairman, directed the rechartering, which included recording of new scouts and leaders.

Attending the Roundtable were den mothers Uretta Frazier, June Eitel, Dena Keaton, Jane Morrow, Doris Russell, and Lavonne Spradlin; cubmasters Bob Armentrout, Paul Eitel, Steve Jones, Albert Johnson, Glen McFarland, Ken Sowers, Herb Seymour, Bill Spradlin, and Joe Wright; scoutmasters Orban Burchwell, Ray Haley, Howard Russell and Bob Turvey; troop committeemen D. L. Bumen, Emerson Cline, and Del Moore; institutional representatives John Hartley, Jim Peters, and Bob Rowland; neighborhood commissioner Ovid Clark; Jim Farinet, district executive; and district committeemen David Amos, Gerald Ayers, Dick Compton, Harry Diehl, Ken

Luna, Jack Walters and Gary Winner.
Members of Explorer Post 3 present were Fred Cullums, John Thomas, Carl Stonerock, Roy Strawser, Ray Winner, and Fred Wittich. Jack Cheney and David Massie represented the newly formed Post 1, with 13 members, sponsored by the Church of Latter Day Saints, Post 1 meets in the Masonic Hall.

Dick Compton, of the District Leadership Training Committee, announced a Show'n'Do for March 15, 1-5 p. m. at the 4-H Grange Hall. All patrol leaders, their assistants, and senior patrol leaders are urged to attend, as the subject will be Second Class Requirements.

Gerald Ayers, activities chairman, announced that seven units have signed up for booths at the June 12-14 Paul Bunyon Exposition, a giant display of Scout activities at the Ohio State Fairgrounds. The units and their subjects are as follows: Troop 157, New and Old; 170, Knot Board; 479, Gun Safety; 484, World's Fastest Knot Tiers; Cub Pack 157, Splatter Painting or Carnival Act; 179, Bowling Alley; 320, Know Your Neighborhood; Post 3, Crew 1, Building of giant 40-foot Pinewood Derby racer; Post 3 Crew 2, will assist in the Auto Road-A-O.

Units will receive 25 per cent commission of ticket sales, and best individual ticket sellers will receive prizes.

The April 20 District Committee Meeting will present the Central Ohio Area Council budget. All persons interested in learning the disposition of Scouting's share of the Community Fund are urged to attend this meeting, 7:30 p. m. at the Lutheran Parish House.

The next District Committee Meeting will be March 16. District committeemen and institutional representatives have this meeting the third Monday of each month.

Woman Hurt In Collision

Mrs. Ethel Hoover, 61, Route 3, was hospitalized Saturday following a two-car accident on Kingston Pike, four miles south of here.

Mrs. Hoover was traveling south. Sheriff's deputies said she turned left into the path of a car driven by Charles Schlegler, 47, Route 1.

Mrs. Hoover sustained a fractured knee and lacerations of the forehead. She was admitted to Berger Hospital.

Schlegler was treated for a laceration of the forehead in the emergency room at the hospital.

Mrs. Hoover was cited for failure to yield the right of way by Deputy William Pontious.

Accused Burglar Shot Near Cincinnati Tavern

CINCINNATI (AP)—Joseph L. Purifoy, 26, remained in serious condition at General Hospital today with a gunshot wound suffered in what police said was an attempted burglary.

Police said Purifoy dashed from a tavern early Sunday morning after a cruiser arrived in response to a burglar alarm. They said he ignored orders to stop and a patrolman shot him in the shoulder. Two other men were held for questioning.

Conservation Corps (CCC) in that they will remove underprivileged youngsters from poor home environments.

But instead of concentrating on outdoor work projects as did the CCC of New Deal days, the new academies will lean heavily on education and vocational projects.

Johnson also called on the nation today to mobilize and upgrade its manpower skills in a major effort to wipe out grimly persistent unemployment.

"Overcoming that unemployment is the greatest immediate manpower challenge before us," Johnson said in asking Congress for a broad range of legislation to create jobs and train workers.

The federal government cannot do the job alone, Johnson said in his annual manpower report to Congress.

Calling on business, labor and state and local governments to cooperate in creating an "active manpower policy," the President said: "These programs will take hold and succeed only when we become determined that nothing is to take priority over people."

Johnson's report was accompanied by Labor Department statistics emphasizing the plight of the poorly educated worker in an increasingly technical economy, and the alarmingly high rate of youths who can't find work.

Johnson's message was underscored by latest government figures showing that 800,000 new jobs in February did nothing to dent the nation's 4.5 million jobless total.

The reason is the steadily growing flow of new workers into the labor market, particularly youths. Automated machinery that shrinks job opportunities also plays a part.

Johnson announced "two new major administrative actions" to study the impact of automation, and "to start a continuing top-level assessment of the relation of the government's programs and our country's manpower assets and needs."

He asked Congress to enact pending legislation dealing with youth unemployment, education extension of labor laws to include more workers and increased and broadened unemployment insurance.

Bar Burglars Eat, Drink During Entry

Burglars, displaying indications of thirst and hunger, entered the Circle Bar at 105 E. Ohio St. during the weekend. City police said the intruders ate several sandwiches and drank a quantity of gin. Three cigarette lighters, two fifths of whiskey and one pint of vodka were reported taken.

Sgt. Turney Ross said coin containers were forced from juke boxes on the bar and a nearby bowling machine. He said beer coolers were left open, indicating the burglars were looking for money.

Entry was gained by forcing a back window where an exhaust fan is located. The burglary was reported yesterday morning by Dennis Arledge, manager of the firm.

Police today were trying to connect the entry with one committed last weekend at the Scioto Elks, about two blocks away at Scioto and Ohio Sts.

Man Sentenced On Check Charge

John Bowsher, London, was sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary Friday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for issuing a check with no account in the bank.

Bowsher, indicted on three similar counts by the January Grand Jury, changed his original plea of innocent to guilty on one of the check charges. Judge William Ammer sentenced him to a term of 1-3 years in the penal institution. The other two charges were dismissed.

Stock Market Remains Strong

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed continued strength last week, rising for the fifth straight week in fairly active trading.

Wall Streeters saw it as a sign of solid underlying demand for stocks that the market did not sell off rather sharply after topping the "magic" 800 level in the Dow Jones industrial average the previous week.

The Dow industrials advanced 5.89 to 806.03, establishing a firmer beachhead above the 800 line.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.1 to 299.1. Both indicators stood at record highs as the week ended.

The rise of the averages was confirmed by over-all statistics which showed that of 1,490 issues traded, 798 advanced and 525 declined. This was by no means a runaway bull market trend. The market, in fact, was continuing its irregular rise in which buying interest was rotated from one group of stocks to another, correcting itself piecemeal as it goes along. Wall Street enjoyed a continuing good background of business and economic news. The tax cut, enacted the previous week, began going into effect, freeing more money for individuals and corporations. Steel production rose to an eight-month peak and demand for the metal was strong.

Volume for the week was 26,048,470 shares on the New York Stock Exchange, compared with 26,444,910 the week before.

General Motors, up 1% at 81%, afforded high-quality market leadership.

The five most active issues last week on New York Stock Exchange were Chrysler, up 3 at 47 on 930,300 shares; Erie Lackawanna, unchanged at 5 1/2; radio Corp. (new), up 2 1/2 at 36 3/4; Xerox, up 6% at 85 1/2; and Studebaker, off at 7c.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Thunderstorms rumbled across Ohio Sunday night, and rainfall during the last 36 hours has been locally heavy with amounts up to two inches at London and Columbus.

Small streams rose rapidly and were up to bankfull in some localities by dawn today.

Temperatures were mild during the night as southerly winds brought warm air northward. Early morning readings today were mostly in the 50s.

More showers and thunderstorms were expected today as a low pressure system over Arkansas moved up the Ohio River valley.

Temperatures may reach the mid-60s today, but skies are expected to clear tonight. Fair and much colder weather is expected Tuesday.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO—Temperatures will average four to seven degrees above normal. Normal high 43, normal low 24-28. Colder Tuesday, warming Wednesday and Thursday, colder again Friday. Showers tonight and again Thursday and Friday are expected to total one-half to locally one inch.

SOUTHERN AND CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average eight to 12 degrees above normal. Normal high 47-56, normal low 29-34. Mild through Saturday, but cooler Tuesday, again latter part of week. Rainfall will average about three-fourths of an inch in showers most likely about midweek.

Rock Hudson Just Shrugs When Critics Hurl Barbs

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If the critics like him, peachy, and if they don't, it's no skin off Roy Fitzgerald's nose.

Fitzgerald, once known as Roy Scherer Jr., is an ex-mailman from Winnetka, Ill. He used to drive a truck for a Los Angeles company. Today he's a top movie star and known to his intimates as Rock Hudson.

Right now he's finishing his third comedy with movie land's top-drawing female, Doris Day — "Send Me No Flowers." If it's like the two earlier Day-Hudson collaborations, "Pillow Talk" and "Lover, Come Back," box office cash registers will jingle merrily to the tune of several million. And some critics won't like what they've termed a formula of pseudo-sophistication, slapstick and sex.

Hudson could either laugh or cry all the way to the bank, if he felt like it.

But he doesn't feel like it. Says Hudson: "The critics just don't affect me, one way or the other."

Hudson agrees with a charge that is frequently lodged against some critics — that they too frequently expect so-called art films where entertainment is all that was intended.

He said: "I learned something interesting about the critics and the way they react when I saw 'Some Like It Hot.' Now that was a great movie, I realize, but you know, I didn't like it. You know why? Because I was alone when I saw it."

"That's the trouble with some of these critics. They go to private screenings and exclusive showings and sit there all alone, and then they come out wondering why Hollywood can't make them laugh. 'Some Like It Hot' is the kind of movie that makes you want to nudge the person you're with and laugh out loud. But you're not going to sit there laughing out loud all by yourself. You need an audience laughing with you, in order not to feel like a fool."

"So ever since then I've realized why so many critics miss the point, and they just don't influence my work," he says.

Rock Hudson Just Shrugs When Critics Hurl Barbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is the man in the middle in the civil rights fight starting in the Senate. It wasn't like this a few years ago.

As the summer of 1955 wore on he had plenty of time to wonder what the future held for him. He was recovering from a heart attack but felt far from finished.

It soon became clear a heart condition didn't have to be a political handicap for within a few weeks President Dwight D. Eisenhower had an attack, too, and recovered to go on being an active president.

Johnson returned to his job as the Democrats' Senate leader and in the last four years of Eisenhower's administration set a pace so furious and distinguished he decided he might even be able to be president himself.

In those years two of his outstanding achievements were getting a civil rights bill through in 1957, the first in this century, and another in 1960. Johnson, a Southerner, did this over the opposition of Southern Democrats but these two measures never entirely satisfied anybody. They were compromises, stripped of sections which irritated Southerners most.

Now, four years later, it's another election year, with Johnson hoping for a full, four-year term for himself. Once more a civil rights bill, backed by him, is before the Senate. The situation is not the same.

In the past getting any kind of civil rights bill passed, even though watered down, was considered quite an achievement even if not perfect. But Johnson is president now, not just a Senate leader.

He has given full endorsement to the present bill, the strongest ever offered in American history. Standing firm may hurt him politically in the South; yielding to compromise may hurt him in the North.

Southerners are prepared to fight for weeks or months. Johnson's Democrats can't prevail over the Southerners without Republican help. And Johnson won't get all the Republicans on his side.

Therefore this bill, more than anything he has tackled so far, will test Johnson's craftsmanship and his intentions in trying to fashion Congress to his will.

The House passed this bill. If it winds up watered down in the Senate, the House may not agree to such a compromise. In that case there will be no civil rights law this year, which would be a deadly blow for Johnson.

Postal Aide Killed By Questioning Cop

CINCINNATI (AP)—Fred L. Goodwin, 47, of Cincinnati was shot and killed when he tried to drive away from a policeman who was questioning him Sunday.

Police said patrolman John Zoellner became suspicious when Goodwin's car remained parked at the same spot for a long time about 4 a.m. Zoellner said he fired when Goodwin, a Post Office employee, tried to drive away to avoid answering questions. Police said 197 letters — 63 of them opened — were found in the car, along with $50.55 in cash scattered about the floor and the front seat.

HIGH SPEED

Plymouth rocks racing world with sweep in Daytona "500"

According to the record book for stock cars in competition, there is no higher average speed for 500 miles than the 154.334 m.p.h. set by a competition-equipped 1964 Plymouth in winning last month's Daytona "500."

Adding to that glory is the fact that two more 1964 Plymouths finished 2nd and 3rd for a decisive Plymouth sweep. That suggests that Plymouths were not only the swiftest cars in the competition, but that they're built to stay in there all the way.

For the millions of racing fans and high-performance enthusiasts across the country, Plymouth is proud of its "high speed" victory at Daytona.

YOUR SPEED

Plymouth beats Ford & Chevrolet in tests of showroom V-8s

This competition was more "your speed." At Plymouth's request, an independent testing company bought and compared showroom models of Plymouth, Ford and Chevrolet.

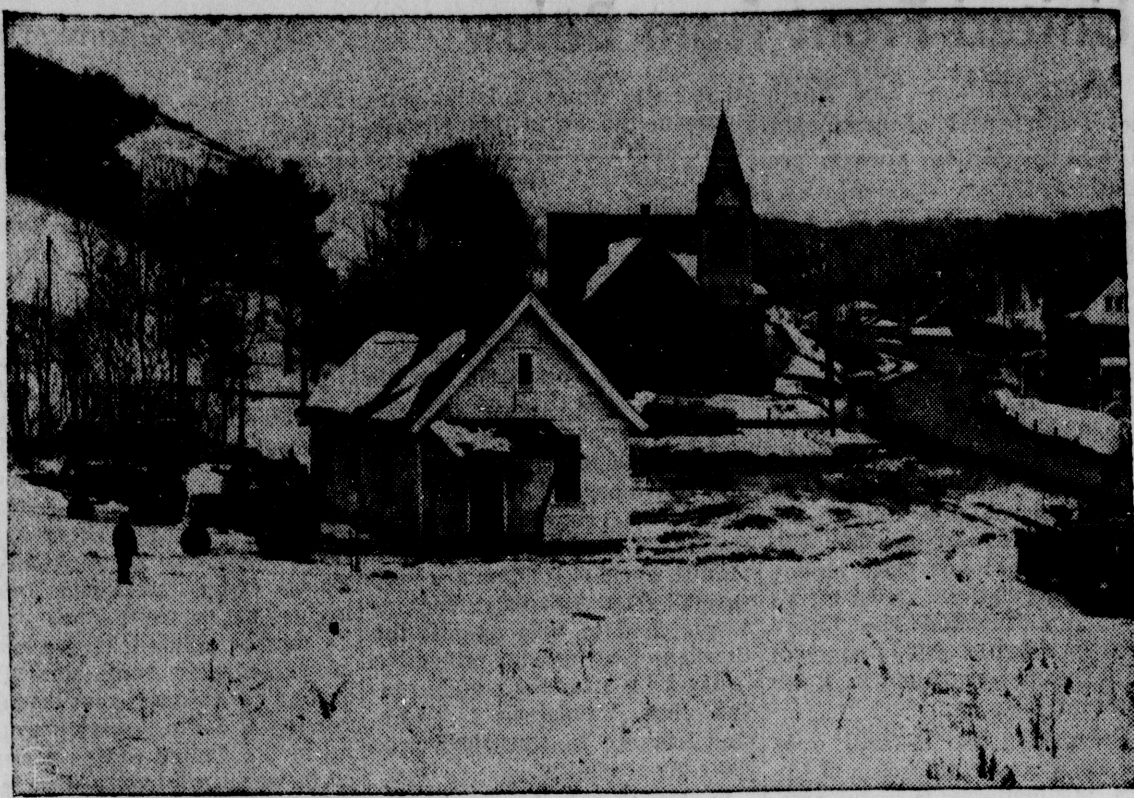

The cars were comparably equipped standard V-8s — cars people buy. And the tests were of "things people buy a car for" — acceleration, handling, braking, and gas economy.

In test after test, Plymouth accelerated best, handled best, braked best, and got the best gas mileage. This is the kind of competition Plymouth most likes to win. "High speed" or "your speed," these 1964 Plymouths are tough to beat!

Stock Market Remains Strong

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed continued strength last week, rising for the fifth straight week in fairly active trading.

Wall Streeters saw it as a sign of solid underlying demand for stocks that the market did not sell off rather sharply after topping the "magic" 800 level in the Dow Jones industrial average the previous week.

The Dow industrials advanced 5.89 to 806.03, establishing a firmer beachhead above the 800 line.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.1 to 299.1.

Both indicators stood at record highs as the week ended.

The rise of the averages was confirmed by over-all statistics which showed that of 1,490 issues traded, 798 advanced and 525 declined. This was by no means a runaway bull market. The market, in fact, was continuing its irregular rise in which buying interest was rotated from one group of stocks to another, correcting itself piecemeal as it goes along.

Wall Street enjoyed a continued good background of business and economic news. The tax cut, enacted the previous week, began going into effect, freeing more money for individuals and corporations. Steel production rose to an eight-month peak and demand for the metal was strong.

Volume for the week was 26,048,470 shares on the New York Stock Exchange, compared with 26,444,910 the week before.

General Motors, up 1% at 81%, afforded high-quality market leadership.

The five most active issues last week on New York Stock Exchange were Chrysler, up 3 at 47 on 930,300 shares; Erie Lackawanna, unchanged at 5 1/2; radio Corp. (new), up 2 1/2 at 36 1/2; Xerox, up 6% at 85 1/2; and Studebaker, off at 7c.

Rock Hudson Just Shrugs When Critics Hurl Barbs

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If the critics like him, peachy, and if they don't, it's no skin off Roy Fitzgerald's nose.

Fitzgerald, once known as Roy Scherer Jr., is an ex-mailman from Winnetka, Ill. He used to drive a truck for a Los Angeles company. Today he's a top movie star and known to his intimates as Rock Hudson.

Right now he's finishing his third comedy with movieland's top-drawing female, Doris Day — "Send Me No Flowers." If it's like the two earlier Day-Hudson collaborations, "Pillow Talk" and "Lover, Come Back," box office cash registers will jingle merrily to the tune of several million. And some critics won't like what they've termed a formula of pseudo-sophistication, slapstick and sex.

Hudson could either laugh or cry all the way to the bank, if he felt like it.

But he doesn't feel like it. Says Hudson: "The critics just don't affect me, one way or the other."

Hudson agrees with a charge that is frequently lodged against some critics — that they too frequently expect so-called art films where entertainment is all that was intended.

He said: "I learned something interesting about the critics and the way they react when I saw 'Some Like It Hot.' Now that was a great movie, I realize, but you know, I didn't like it. You know why? Because I was alone when I saw it."

"That's the trouble with some of these critics. They go to private screenings and exclusive showings and sit there all alone, and then they come out wondering why Hollywood can't make them laugh. 'Some Like It Hot' is the kind of movie that makes you want to nudge the person you're with and laugh out loud. But you're not going to sit there laughing out loud all by yourself. You need an audience laughing with you, in order not to feel like a fool."

"So ever since then I've realized why so many critics miss the point, and they just don't influence my work," he says.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is the man in the middle in the civil rights fight starting in the Senate. It wasn't like this a few years ago.

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The tax cut growth medicine prescribed by the late President John F. Kennedy a year and a half ago finally began to rub into the muscles of the economy during the past week.

The first application was in paychecks distributed to salary and wage-earners Thursday and Friday.

Gradually, as the effects fan out across the country, hundreds of thousands of corporations and 80 million individuals will end up with $11.5 billion a year more to spend or save.

The administration is counting on the resulting stepup in expenditures to spur expansion in an already flourishing economy, and by generating more jobs, to reverse a persistent uptrend in unemployment.

How the medicine works, only time would tell.

Its arrival on the business and finance scene came at a time when favorable omens continued to pile up and disquieting influences were few.

The stock market climbed to new high ground and despite some backing and filling showed signs of digging in there, or even pushing higher.

More good news came from the booming auto industry, a bellwether of prosperity for many satellite businesses, and from steel, a second strong underlying force with wide-spreading roots.

Other reports told of a sharp rise in machine tool orders, increased factory bookings of new orders and promising achievements toward development of a supersonic commercial air transport.

The consumer price index, revised to reflect changed purchasing patterns, crept higher. Leading aluminum producers made an ingot price rise stick after two abortive attempts.

New car sales posted a record in February for a fifth consecutive month. The selling rate of 23,523 cars a day was up seven per cent from a year earlier and eclipsed a previous mark for February — 22,374 set in 1955.

Steel production, gaining for a ninth consecutive week, mounted to nearly three-fourths of capacity and reached an eight-month high.

Wall Street was heartened when the stock market, as measured by the popular Dow-Jones industrial average, started the week on a firm unbeaten after closing the preceding week above the 800 level for the first time.

The consumer price index, a leading gauge of inflation, was higher in January — by .1 at 107.7—only on the basis of a new method of calculating living costs. On the old basis, it held steady at December's level.

Stock sales reached 26,048,470 shares slightly under the previous week's volume of 26,444,910. Bond sales, par value, totaled $53,910,000 compared with $63,252,000 the previous week.

9 Million Kids Make Music

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

America is on a great cultural kick. More than nine million of our youngsters play a musical instrument. And recently on a bus I saw one looking at an opened book.

Everybody is interested in what happens to women, and one of the things that has happened to them since 1935 is that their average shoe size has increased from five to seven.

The sweet tooth industry has decided this year to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the candy bar in America.

Since 1914 we have eaten three trillion candy bars.

Prosperity note: New retail businesses are being started at the rate of 170,000 a year.

The other side of the picture: Although more Americans live higher on the hog than ever before, some 30 million of us dwell in families with an annual income of less than $3,000 a year.

Our quotable notables: "Women are our mothers, and paradise is always found at their feet, those who wish to have the benediction of God must first gain the benediction of their mothers."—Muhammad.

More about women: They are now buying 20 per cent of new life insurance policies, half the U.S. white collar working force wears petticoats, and we have 266 lady coal miners, 101 lady blacksmiths, 85 lady locomotive engineers, 301 lady stevedores, and 1,000 lady lumbermen—if I may use such a phrase. As a matter of fact, since 1950 the federal census of occupations has listed no jobs held exclusively by men. About the only thing a woman can't become is a widower.

Who needs help? Well, in New York City about 75 per cent of those who receive public assistance are children under 18 or adults who must care for them, 10 per cent are over 65 and 10 per cent are disabled.

Those who journey above the clouds will find in the near future there'll be a longer distance between hiccups. One now travels 150 miles while sipping a glass of champagne aboard a modern jet. Passengers on the upcoming supersonic jets will zip 495 miles while imbibing the same quantity of bubbly.

Worried that age is slowing you down? Take heart from Michelangelo. A genius in his youth, he still produced art after 80. Benjamin Franklin fought the ravages of time by inventing bifocal glasses when he was 78.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. They must be signed by the writer with a complete return address. However the name and address will not be used in the published letter upon request of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Sir:

I imagine you will receive many letters in regard to the one published last Wednesday. It seems that some Teays Valley students are unhappy with your coverage of sports. I would like to answer this student's letter.

In the first place this student is very right in saying that The Circleville Herald is a hometown paper, and therefore should have full coverage of all Circleville High School's sports. However, this student seems to think that just because some 300 people in the Ashville area read the paper that Teays Valley should have coverage equal to that of CHS. If they get equal coverage, then Logan Elm, Williamsport, Monroe and all the other Pickaway County schools should have it, too. They have equal claim.

If this happened the paper would soon be overrun with headlines proclaiming victories (or losses) of Pickaway County's many high schools. Personally, I think this would look silly, and I think that it would degrade the Circleville Herald tremendously.

This student also complained because Circleville's loss was written in headlines on the day that Teays Valley had an important game. Evidently he (or she) is not a very steady reader of The Herald, or he would realize that the pre-game write-ups always come a day or two before the game, no matter whether it is a Circleville or Teays Valley game.

I also think the malicious remarks about Circleville's frequent losses were entirely unfounded. I believe that they show the juvenile attitude of this person. I feel confident these remarks do not express the opinion of the entire student body of Teays Valley.

If I were to think on the same level as this student, I might mention the fact that when Circleville wins a basketball game, it really is news and should be in headlines; or the fact that football, not basketball, seems to be the major sport at Circleville High School (as our three league titles, and lonely two defeats in the last three seasons indicates.) I might also ask what happened to that tremendous 18-game streak when Teays Valley met Columbus Central in the District tournament?

I only hope that as editor of The Herald you will give equal coverage to Circleville High School by printing one of many letters you may receive. I think we are entitled to "equal time."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FAMOUS writers all have their own way of preparing their manuscript for final submission to the publishers. Here's how mystery fashioner Margery Allingham goes about her craft: "I write every paragraph four times: once to get my meaning down, once to put in anything I have left out, once to take out anything that seems unnecessary, and once to make the whole thing sound as if I have only just thought of it."

Clutching his diploma, a newly graduated college man strode hastily from the Commencement Exercises (forced into a non-air-conditioned gym by a sudden downpour) and recited fervently to himself:

"It's never so bleak
But it couldn't be bleaker:
There might have been
A second speaker!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The automobile is too often a lethal weapon, responsible for 40,000 deaths and 1,500,000 injuries yearly in the U. S. Such appalling statistics portray a health problem of gigantic magnitude and national concern.

There are many factors that share responsibility for this blight on the safety of a nation.

Federal and state agencies work ceaselessly to remove the more obvious construction hazards of driving. Roads and highways are constantly being modernized and improved for the maximum safety of passengers and pedestrians.

Automobile manufacturers offer in today's cars many safety features devised by engineering research. Seat belts, padded interiors and secure door catches contribute to the maximum protection of the occupants.

Comprehensive driver education programs, for beginner and experienced alike, are designed to perfect driving techniques and to teach the rules of the road. More rigid physical and mental tests are being employed to weed out incompetent and unreliable drivers.

When a high-speed car is driven by one suffering from faulty vision, impaired hearing, emotional instability or any physical limitation that might diminish the motorist's speed of response, the automobile becomes a potential instrument of destruction. Rapid reflexes require a healthy body and an alert mind.

The physician plays a vital role in preserving the safety of the community by recognizing the illnesses or handicaps of his patients which could impair driving efficiency.

Dr. L. G. Norman, London, England, and Dr. Harold Brandaleone, New York City, have cited a number of medical conditions which can cause death and destruction on the highways:

A tendency to faint or fall asleep.
Epilepsy.
Heart Disease.
Diabetes with insulin treatment.
Convulsions.
Incomplete recovery from strokes.
Known neurological disease.
Sudden attacks of dizziness (vertigo).
Impaired vision.
Deficient hearing.
Arthritic incapacitation of the arms or legs.

These are some of the physical conditions which are most

MIAMI, FLA. — This "farthest south" part of continental United States always produces a strange sensation that nothing is to be understood in the contemporary world without a double take. The big-shot politicians come here to make reassuring speeches. People, in a thousand ways, are bent on pleasure in the sun. But this is also a listening post where the Cold War isn't exactly cold, and while the horses and dogs run and the jai lai bettors crowd up to the windows to collect their money the feeling will not down that this is a "behind the lines" area in a battle that is going to go disastrously against us if we don't all wake up.

Everything that is said over the air waves to the south of the U.S. is monitored here by anti-Castroites, and the most chilling bit of information picket out of the air recently is the fact that, on the working levels of the Latin American revolution, the agents of Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung are as close as Siamese twins. Informed Cubans such as my friend, Dr. Fernando Penabaz, cannot understand why the monitored transcripts seem never to be taken into account in Secretary of State Dean Rusk's speeches which allege that there are qualitative differences between the Russian, the Cuban, and the Red Chinese governments.

Just recently, for example, Communists from Brazil, Cuba, Russia, and Red China have been meeting in Havana to plot the downfall of Brazil. The truly portentous thing about this conclave is that it is directed by the Soviet Colonel Jaroslav Volenkeski and the Red Chinese emissary Liu Chao Yen, who work harmoniously together. Does information such as this ever filter upward to Dean Rusk's own desk?

There is an undoubted split between Peking and Moscow on the upper ideological levels. Mao Tse-tung frowns upon negotiations with the "imperialist" camp, and would welcome the outbreak of local wars even at the risk of atomic escalation. Khrushchev, who is convinced that the "imperialists" can be flanked by purely political Communist overtures, doesn't want to court a big war and is willing to parlay with the West about superficials. But when it comes to local opportunism, there is no reason why the Russians and the Red Chinese should not vary the old tactic of the "united front from below."

Thus, if Brazil can be taken from within, by convincing President "Jango" Goulart to follow a Castroite line, it would suit the purposes of both Peking and Moscow. Similarly with Chile, where the "socialist" candidate for president, Salvador Allende, promises to throw the "Yanqui" copper companies, Kennecott and Anaconda, out if he wins. Or similarly with Venezuela or British Guiana.

The truth would seem to be that Latin America is the one prize in the world that Khrushchev and Mao need not quarrel about just yet. They have not quarrelled about Castro, who has neatly distributed his own ideological favors between Peking and Moscow. And while Fidel looks to both East and West, the agents of Khrushchev and Mao come and go in Havana without visible friction between them.

The spots on the globe where the Russians and the Red Chinese can't cooperate on the working levels of the Communist world revolution are very special. The Albanians, for example, had to turn against the Russians and look for protection to Peking for the simple reason that Yugoslavia's Tito, now friendly to Khrushchev, is their great enemy.

In Asia itself it can hardly suit the purposes of Khrushchev to give atomic military support to Mao, for a strong Red China might let its population pressures provoke it to demand restoration by Russia of old Chinese territory north of the Amur River. In Africa, there could be significant differences between Mao and Khrushchev because of racial aspects. But as for Latin America, there is a double reason for continued Soviet-Red China cooperation in subversion. The first reason is that, from the standpoint of a sheer military geopolitics as they affect Russia and China, South America is, as someone once said "a dagger pointed at the heart of the Antarctic continent." The second reason is that the subversion of Latin America would make the United States a neutral in world affairs, which is a common objective of Communists everywhere.

THE BIG 10

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The tax cut growth medicine prescribed by the late President John F. Kennedy a year and a half ago finally began to rub into the muscles of the economy during the past week.

The first application was in paychecks distributed to salary and wage-earners Thursday and Friday.

Gradually, as the effects fan out across the country, hundreds of thousands of corporations and 80 million individuals will end up with $11.5 billion a year more to spend or save.

The administration is counting on the resulting stepup in expenditures to spur expansion in an already flourishing economy, and by generating more jobs, to reverse a persistent up-trend in unemployment.

How the medicine works, only time would tell.

Its arrival on the business and finance scene came at a time when favorable omens continued to pile up and disquieting influences were few.

The stock market climbed to new high ground and despite some backing and filling showed signs of digging in there, or even pushing higher.

More good news came from the booming auto industry, a bellwether of prosperity for many satellite businesses, and from steel, a second strong underlying force with wide-spreading roots.

Other reports told of a sharp rise in machine tool orders, increased factory bookings of new orders and promising achievements toward development of a supersonic commercial air transport.

The consumer price index, revised to reflect changed purchasing patterns, crept higher. Leading aluminum producers made an ingot price rise stick after two abortive attempts.

New car sales posted a record in February for a fifth consecutive month. The selling rate of 23,523 cars a day was up seven per cent from a year earlier and eclipsed a previous mark for February — 23,374 set in 1955.

Steel production, gaining for a ninth consecutive week, showed signs of nearly three-fourths of capacity and reached an eight-month high.

Wall Street was heartened when the stock market, as measured by the popular Dow-Jones industrial average, started the week on a firm upbeat after closing the preceding week above the 800 level for the first time.

The consumer price index, a leading gauge of inflation, was higher in January — by .1 at 107.7 — only on the basis of a new method of calculating living costs. On the old basis, it held steady at December's level.

Stock sales reached 26,048,470 shares slightly under the previous week's volume of 26,444,910. Bond sales, par value, totaled $53,910,000 compared with $63,252,000 the previous week.

9 Million Kids Make Music

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

America is on a great cultural kick. More than nine million of our youngsters play a musical instrument. And recently on a bus I saw one looking at an opened book.

Everybody is interested in what happens to women, and one of the things that has happened to them since 1935 is that their average shoe size has increased from five to seven.

The sweet tooth industry has decided this year to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the candy bar in America.

Since 1914 we have eaten three trillion candy bars.

Prosperity note: New retail businesses are being started at the rate of 170,000 a year.

The other side of the picture: Although more Americans live higher on the hog than ever before, some 30 million of us dwell in families with an annual income of less than $3,000 a year.

Our quotable notables: "Women are our mothers, and paradise is always found at their feet, those who wish to have the benediction of God must first gain the benediction of their mothers."—Muhammad.

More about women: They are now buying 20 per cent of new life insurance policies, half the U.S. white collar working force wears petticoats, and we have 266 lady coal miners, 101 lady blacksmiths, 85 lady locomotive engineers, 301 lady stedevores, and 1,000 lady lumbermen—if I may use such a phrase.

As a matter of fact, since 1950 the federal census of occupations has listed no jobs held exclusively by men. About the only thing a woman can't become is a widower.

Who needs help? Well, in New York City about 75 per cent of those who receive public assistance are children under 18 or adults who must care for them, 10 per cent are over 65 and 10 per cent are disabled.

Those who journey above the clouds will find in the near future there'll be a longer distance between hiccupps. One now travels 150 miles while sipping a glass of champagne aboard a modern jet. Passengers on the upcoming supersonic jets will zip 495 miles while imbibing the same quantity of bubbly.

Worried that age is slowing you down? Take heart from Michelangelo. A genius in his youth, he still produced art after 80. Benjamin Franklin fought the ravages of time by inventing bifocal glasses when he was 78.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. They must be signed by the writer with a complete return address. However the name and address will not be used in the published letter upon request of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Sir:

I imagine you will receive many letters in regard to the one published last Wednesday. It seems that some Teays Valley students are unhappy with your coverage of sports. I would like to answer this student's letter.

In the first place this student is very right in saying that The Circleville Herald is a hometown paper, and therefore should have full coverage of all Circleville High School's sports.

However, this student seems to think that just because some 300 people in the Ashville area read the paper that Teays Valley should have coverage equal to that of CHS. If they get equal coverage, then Logan Elm, Williamsport, Monroe and all the other Pickaway County schools should have it, too. They have equal claim.

If this happened the paper would soon be overrun with headlines proclaiming victories (or losses) of Pickaway County's many high schools. Personally, I think this would look silly, and I think that it would degrade the Circleville Herald tremendously.

This student also complained because Circleville's loss was written in headlines on the day that Teays Valley had an important game. Evidently he (or she) is not a very steady reader of The Herald, or he would realize that the pre-game write-ups always come a day or two before the game, no matter whether it is a Circleville or Teays Valley game.

I also think the malicious remarks about Circleville's frequent losses were entirely uncalled for. I believe that they show the juvenile attitude of this person. I feel confident these remarks do not express the opinion of the entire student body of Teays Valley.

If I were to think on the same level as this student, I might mention the fact that when Circleville wins a basketball game, it really is news and should be in headlines; or the fact that football, not basketball, seems to be the major sport at Circleville High School (as our three league titles, and lonely two defeats in the last three seasons indicates.) I might also ask what happened to that tremendous 18-game streak when Teays Valley met Columbus Central in the District tournament.

I only hope that as editor of The Herald you will give equal coverage to Circleville High School by printing one of many letters you may receive. I think we are entitled to "equal time."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FAMOUS writers all have their own way of preparing their manuscript for final submission to the publishers. Here's how mystery fashioner Margery Allingham goes about her craft: "I write every paragraph four times: once to get my meaning down, once to put in anything I have left out, once to take out anything that seems unnecessary, and once to make the whole thing sound as if I have only just thought of it."

An expectant bride was planning her wedding reception at the Americana Hotel. A major-domo heard her tell her mother, "I'll stand here in the receiving line, you and papa will stand there, and what's-his-name will stand at my right."

Clutching his diploma, a newly graduated college man strode hastily from the Commencement Exercises (forced into a non-air-conditioned gym by a sudden downpour) and recited fervently to himself:

"It's never so bleak
But it couldn't be bleaker:
There might have been
A second speaker!"

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO
Mrs. Betty C. Rickey, N. Court St., was one of 45 junior and senior high school teachers from 12 states selected to attend the Kent State University's summer institute in biology.

A St. Patrick's Dance was planned for members of the Pickaway Country Club.

John F. Grincewich joined the local DuPont plant in the methods and standards engineering department.

TEN YEARS AGO
Mrs. Howard B. Moore, former member of the Circleville Board of Education, was guest of honor at the annual dinner meeting of the Circleville Teachers Assn.

Police Chief Elmer Merri-man announced his department would increase efforts to check vandalism at Ted Lewis Park.

Mrs. Myron Pettit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Reid, N. Washington St., was featured as a soloist during the 25th series of concerts at Ohio State University.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
M. G. Steely, Washington Twp., was reelected secretary-treasurer of the South Central Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc.

Mrs. R. F. Lilly of Watt St. returned home after a visit with her nephew, Warner Baxter, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Jean Baxter, Hollywood, Calif.

A choice T-bone steak dinner for $1 was advertised on the Sunday menu at the New American Hotel Coffee Shop.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The automobile is too often a lethal weapon, responsible for 40,000 deaths and 1,500,000 injuries yearly in the U. S. Such appalling statistics portray a health problem of gigantic magnitude and national concern.

There are many factors that share responsibility for this blight on the safety of a nation.

Federal and state agencies work ceaselessly to remove the more obvious construction hazards of driving. Roads and highways are constantly being modernized and improved for the maximum safety of passengers and pedestrians.

Automobile manufacturers offer in today's cars many safety features devised by engineering research. Seat belts, padded interiors and secure door catches contribute to the maximum protection of the occupants.

Comprehensive driver education programs, for beginner and experienced alike, are designed to perfect driving techniques and to teach the rules of the road. More rigid physical and mental tests are being employed to weed out incompetent and unreliable drivers.

When a high-speed car is driven by one suffering from faulty vision, impaired hearing, emotional instability or any physical limitation that might diminish the motorist's speed of response, the automobile becomes a potential instrument of destruction. Rapid reflexes require a healthy body and an alert mind.

The physician plays a vital role in preserving the safety of the community by recognizing the illnesses or handicaps of his patients which could impair driving efficiency.

Dr. L. G. Norman, London, England, and Dr. Harold Brandeone, New York City, have cited a number of medical conditions which can cause death and destruction on the highways:

A tendency to faint or fall asleep.
Epilepsy.
Heart Disease.
Diabetes with insulin treatment.
Convulsions.
Incomplete recovery from strokes.
Known neurological disease.
Sudden attacks of dizziness (vertigo).
Impaired vision.
Deficient hearing.
Arthritic incapacitation of the arms or legs.

These are some of the physical conditions which are most

MIAMI, FLA. — This "farthest south" part of continental United States always produces a strange sensation that nothing is to be understood in the contemporary world without a double take. The big-shot politicians come here to make reassuring speeches. People, in a thousand ways, are bent on pleasure in the sun. OSU Paper Exonerated In Rioting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University has exonerated the student newspaper of any particular blame in causing the mass "jaywalking" demonstration around the campus Feb. 12.

But the staff of the morning Lantern was ordered to inform the proper university authorities at once for preventative action if the newspaper learns of a possible pending demonstration.

Dr. John T. Bonner, executive dean for student relations — in his report to university president Novice G. Fawcett — said two students have been given disciplinary suspension and five others have been placed upon recorded disciplinary probation for their part in the demonstration.

"The investigation revealed that the mass demonstration was a reaction to a series of events and could not be attributed to any one specific incident," Bonner said.

The story of a coed's arrest on a jaywalking summons was carried on the front page of the Lantern's Feb. 12 issue. Bonner said the Lantern "was performing its daily function in covering the news and determining how the news was to be displayed."

The dean added that as one means to prevent future incidents "letters to all students and their parents warning them of the serious consequences of engaging in mass disturbances of this type will be mailed with the winter quarter grades."

The winter quarter ends March 20.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, March 9th, the 69th day of 1964. There are 297 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1916, Mexican bandit chieftain Pancho Villa and several hundred of his followers entered the United States and carried out an assault against the Army post at Columbus, New Mexico. The raiders killed 17 U.S. citizens in addition to looting and burning the buildings.

On this date In 1743, the first iron made in New Jersey was run in a furnace at Oxford.

In 1862, the Union's "Monitor" defeated the Confederacy's "Merrimack" at Hampton Roads, Virginia, in the first battle of the ironclads.

In 1920, Sweden became a member of the League of Nations.

In 1933, a special session of the 73rd Congress gave President Franklin Roosevelt almost unlimited power over transactions in credit currency, gold and silver.

In 1947, the pioneer suffragette, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, died at the age of 88.

Ten years ago ... the French National Assembly authorized negotiations for peace in China.

Five years ago ... Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev suggested that West Berlin might be garrisoned by big four or neutral troops if it became a free city.

One year ago ... Nineteen workers were killed and 39 injured in an explosion in a drop forging plant in Beleck, West Germany.

Sketches of Senate Candidates

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — His eyes glinting humorously, Rep. Robert Taft Jr. likes to tell a story about how, on his first day in Congress, he almost acquired a reputation as a big spender.

He took his family to lunch in the House restaurant. Unfamiliar with the custom, he didn't know whether a tip was in order. So he gave the waiter $10 to cover the $7 bill and lingered hopefully for some change.

"The waiter never came back and I'm still waiting for the change," Taft says. "I was afraid for a while they would think a big-spending Taft had hit town."

No matter how humorously they may regard the departure of some of their own cash, the Tafts of Ohio have emphasized frugality with other peoples' money—"fiscal integrity" in the federal government, as the present congressman-at-large puts it.

That is one of the themes he is stressing in preparation for a big political showdown in Ohio, a contest that is attracting national attention.

Taft, a pleasant-voiced 47-year-old who stands 6-feet-1 and weighs 205, is running for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Stephen M. Young.

Opposing Taft in the Republican primary is Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. Among Young's opponents in the Democrat primary is former astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

If Taft wins though, it will be another chapter in a 150-year-old Taft family saga:

Alphonso Taft, great-grandfather of the congressman, was born in 1810 on a farm near Townsend, Vt. After graduation from Yale Law School, he moved to Cincinnati, where he became a successful lawyer and a judge. In the 1870s he served as secretary of war and attorney general in President Grant's Cabinet, and later was minister to Austria-Hungary.

His son, William Howard Taft, became President and later Chief Justice of the United States. And his son, the congressman, was considered so authentically GOP by millions that they named him "Mr. Republican."

"A 100-foot white bell tower, erected on the slopes of Capitol Hill in memory of the senator, who died of cancer in 1953, chimes the passing of the hours. The congressman cannot hear it from his present office, because the tower is on the Senate side of the grounds. But if he wins he'll be able to hear it easily."

Asked if he remembers his grandfather, the former President, the congressman said he recalls him well. The future congressman was 13 when the former President died. They had had good times together at the Taft summer home in Murray Bay, Canada.

Young Taft was educated in Cincinnati public schools; at the Taft school in Watertown, Conn., where a grand-uncle, Horace, was headmaster; at Yale (B.A. 1939) and Harvard (L.L.B. 1942).

At Yale he gave athletics the old college try but never made the big time.

In World War II, he was a naval officer on an attack transport and took part in the invasions of Guadalcanal, Sicily, Salerno, Normandy and Okinawa.

After the war, he built up a law practice and turned to politics. Though he had no middle initial like his father, he tackled a junior on his name to avoid confusion.

Aides say that when the father died in 1953, the son could have had the senate seat. Instead, they say, he decided to start on lower rungs and get a political education. Beginning in 1955, he served four two-year terms in the Ohio House of Representatives, the last term as Republican floor leader.

And so what are his policies—all-out conservative or somewhat liberal?

He dislikes both words; figures they don't fit the modern scene. "The terms are fouled up," he says. "For one thing, some liberals would interfere in many ways with the liberties of the individuals; and conservatives are the ones who would protect those liberties."

But if he has to be classified, he says, he is certainly a conservative on fiscal soundness. On education, health welfare, he believes he goes down the middle of the Republican road. As for civil rights, he is for strong legislation.

In world affairs, he says, the country could use some of the "clarity of position and willingness to act," some of "the conscience and responsibility" which President William McKinley displayed.

One thing Taft says he will never do is campaign on personalities; no invective for him.

Taft was married in 1939 to the former Blanca Noel, daughter of a New York investment banker.

The future Mrs. Taft breezed through Bryn Mawr's tough academic course with ease, and somewhere along the line acquired the ability to belt a mean golf ball. She is reported able on occasion to give her husband a close run on the links, and he shoots in the high 70s or low 80s.

Mrs. Taft is not a lady to seek publicity, but her husband says she is a great campaign help in informal, chatty gatherings.

"She does not seek the limelight, but she is nevertheless an extrovert," he says.

At home, the Tafts live on a 50-acre spread in a big, white-pillared house, his father's old place in the Cincinnati community of Indian Hill. They have four children, ranging from Robert A. Taft II, 22, who has gone off with the Peace Corps to teach English in Tanganyika, down to Jonathan D. Taft, 10, who is in private school in Washington.

Is Congressman Taft scared about the big contest he faces? Not a bit.

"Ohio is a big, important state," he says. "Anybody who runs for the Senate ought to have opposition. It would be too bad if there weren't a fight."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown thrives on tough competition in politics as well as sports.

"I've been a competitor all my life," the former pro football player and wrestler says with a grin.

"This race for United States senator is another tough contest but this is my year to move up," he asserts.

The 57-year-old Brown, Ohio's chief election official for 14 years, speaks with quiet confidence about the senatorial race featuring such famous names as Taft and Glenn.

Brown's opponent for the GOP nomination in the May 5 primary is Congressman-at-Large Robert Taft Jr., son of the late U.S. senator called "Mr. Republican" and grandson of President William Howard Taft.

Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., astronaut turned politician after 22 years in military service, is the leading foe of incumbent U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young, veteran of 50 years in Buckeye politics, for the Democratic nomination.

Winners will square off in the Nov. 3 general election.

The secretary of state figures he'll be in on the payoff.

Brown speaks softly of his prospects against admitted odds, but none doubts that he is game.

His six-foot frame is down from 205 pounds to a trim 165 after a heart attack last year. Following his recovery, Brown quit smoking and keeps in shape with physician-prescribed exercises.

He fancies bow ties, wears horn-rimmed glasses and combs his thinning dark hair straight back.

Brown likes to work at his job. He usually puts in a longer office day than his staff and still finds time for campaigning.

He displays a faculty for inspiring loyalty in his staff that brings frequent praise in letters and from office callers as "Ohio's best secretary of state."

Brown learned about politics a half century ago while still in knee pants.

As a youngster, he traveled the state with his late father, George A. Brown, to peddle legal documents and forms to public officials in court houses and municipal offices.

"I saw grass roots government in action and liked it," Brown recalls.

At 26, he was elected recorder of Clark County, the youngest recorder in west-central Ohio.

He is a past president of the National Association of Secretaries of State and headed the statewide recorders' organization while in county office.

"My chances are better than most people outside the state seem to think," Brown says of the senatorial contest.

"The voters in Ohio will determine the outcome and I'm confident that my friends, who have stayed with me through the years, will not desert me now."

Brown's backers consider the "court house" vote a potent factor in elections and recall that Brown has spent years in cultivating that source of strength.

Brown's popularity has paid off. He survived the Democratic landslide of 1958 that swept all other elective Republican officials from the Statehouse.

Born in Springfield, Ohio, April 19, 1906, Brown went through high school and on to Wittenberg University.

In grade school, he carried two newspaper routes and for a time also worked as a lamp-lighter.

Brown found time to become president of his senior class. He also was captain of the Wittenberg Academy football team and played every minute of every game one season.

Later Brown played professional football with the Springfield Bulldogs, a team with a popular following in its day, and became a professional wrestler. Summer vacations found Brown at such jobs as lifeguard, farm hand and laborer.

At one time he worked as a mule driver for a road construction crew in Florida.

In 1926, Brown married Florence Mitchell of nearby Clinton County. They have three married daughters and six grandchildren.

Brown drove a bread truck during the early days of his marriage and became manager of one of the largest bakeries in the state. Eventually he started his own furnace business only to go bankrupt, although he managed to pay off all his creditors.

His first election to public office came in 1932. He served two terms as county recorder before losing out in a Democratic landslide. Some of his salary as county recorder went to help pay off his furnace company debts.

In 1951, on his fourth try, he was elected secretary of state and has been invincible ever since.

An implacable foe of election fraud, Brown has conducted or aided investigations in a score of counties, two of them earlier this year. Several convictions were obtained in earlier inquiries.

Also as a result of his efforts Ohio has a 40-day residence requirement for voting for president and vice president, instead of a one-year residence requirement.

Brown is credited with having the National Association of Secretaries of State go on record as favoring more lenient residence requirements by states for presidential voting.

The American Heritage Foundation cited Brown in 1952, 1956 and 1960 for the best national record of any official voter education.

Brown was last elected in 1962 to a four-year term by a margin of more than 621,000 votes, largest plurality among elective state offices.

OSU Paper Exonerated In Rioting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University has exonerated the student newspaper of any particular blame in causing the mass "jaywalking" demonstration around the campus Feb. 12.

But the staff of the morning Lantern was ordered to inform the proper university authorities at once for preventative action if the newspaper learns of a possible pending demonstration.

Dr. John T. Bonner, executive dean for student relations — in his report to university president Novice G. Fawcett — said two students have been given disciplinary suspension and five others have been placed upon recorded disciplinary probation for their part in the demonstration.

"The investigation revealed that the mass demonstration was a reaction to a series of events and could not be attributed to any one specific incident," Bonner said.

The story of a coed's arrest on a jaywalking summons was carried on the front page of the Lantern's Feb. 12 issue. Bonner said the Lantern "was performing its daily function in covering the news and determining how the news was to be displayed."

The dean added that as one means to prevent future incidents "letters to all students and their parents warning them of the serious consequences of engaging in mass disturbances of this type will be mailed with the winter quarter grades."

The winter quarter ends March 20.

Sketches of Senate Candidates

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — His eyes glinting humorously, Rep. Robert Taft Jr. likes to tell a story about how, on his first day in Congress, he almost acquired a reputation as a big spender.

He took his family to lunch in the House restaurant. Unfamiliar with the custom, he didn't know whether a tip was in order. So he gave the waiter $10 to cover the $7 bill and lingered hopefully for some change.

"The waiter never came back and I'm still waiting for the change," Taft says. "I was afraid for a while they would think a big-spending Taft had hit town."

No matter how humorously they may regard the departure of some of their own cash, the Tafts of Ohio have emphasized frugality with other peoples' money—"fiscal integrity" in the federal government, as the present congressman-at-large puts it.

That is one of the themes he is stressing in preparation for a big political showdown in Ohio, a contest that is attracting national attention.

Taft, a pleasant-voiced 47-year-old who stands 6-feet-1 and weighs 205, is running for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Stephen M. Young.

Opposing Taft in the Republican primary is Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. Among Young's opponents in the Democratic primary is former astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

If Taft wins though, it will be another chapter in a 150-year-old Taft family saga.

Alphonso Taft, great-grandfather of the congressman, was born in 1810 on a farm near Townsend, Vt. After graduation from Yale Law School, he moved to Cincinnati, where he became a successful lawyer and a judge. In the 1870s he served as secretary of war and attorney general in President Grant's Cabinet, and later was minister to Austria-Hungary.

His son, William Howard Taft, became President and later Chief Justice of the United States. And his son, the congressman's father, Robert A. Taft, became the senator whose principles were considered so authentically GOP by millions that they named him "Mr. Republican."

"A 100-foot white bell tower, erected on the slopes of Capitol Hill in memory of the senator, who died of cancer in 1953, chimes the passing of the hours. The congressman cannot hear it from his present office, because the tower is on the Senate side of the grounds. But if he wins he'll be able to hear it easily."

Asked if he remembers his grandfather, the former President, the congressman said he recalls him well. The future congressman was 13 when the former President died. They had had good times together at the Taft summer home in Murray Bay, Canada.

After the war, he built up a law practice and turned to politics. Though he had no middle initial like his father, he tacked a junior on his name to avoid confusion.

Aides say that when the father died in 1953, the son could have had the senate seat. Instead, they say, he decided to start on lower rungs and get a political education. Beginning in 1955, he served four two-year terms in the Ohio House of Representatives, the last term as Republican floor leader.

Mrs. Richard Plum, 610 Ridgewood Drive, will entertain members of Circle No. 8 of First Methodist Church 1:30 p. m. Thursday.

Dear Abby: Friendly Enemy!

DEAR ABBY: What would you do about a friend who says, "I heard something terrible about you yesterday, but I can't tell you what it was because it would only upset you?"
GOSSIP TOWN, USA
DEAR GOSSIP TOWN: I'd send her a "get well" card!

DEAR ABBY: I can't expect you to solve my problem, but I am interested in your opinion. Our school has just installed a swimming pool, and the boys have been informed that they must swim nude. Some of the boys did not approve of this, but they didn't object because they were afraid of the coach. (My son was one, that's how I know.) I think this should have been decided by the parents as it is a public coeducational school built with taxpayers' money.

8-Week Tour Described By Minister

The Rev. Glenn Copeland of Walnut St. Methodist Church, Chillicothe, was guest speaker when the Kingston Civic Club met Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Grover Whitten.

He told of the conditions in the South American countries he visited during his eight week preaching mission and good will tour last year and also showed color slides.

Mrs. Fred Likens, president, conducted the business session and announced Legislation Day will be held Thursday in Portsmouth. Announcement was also made of the Ross County Civil Defense School which will begin at 7 p. m. Monday in the Municipal Building, Kingston, and will continue for eight weeks.

The scholarship drive was discussed. Mrs. Winston Hood's resignation from the club, because she is moving away, was accepted.

A salad course was served by the hostess.

Newcomer's Club Plans Dinner Party

A carry-in dinner and Las Vegas Party is planned for members of Newcomer's Club when they meet 7 p. m. Saturday in Prairie Lanes party room.

OES Members Slate Meeting Tomorrow

Slides of the Holy Land will be shown when Circleville Chapter No. 90 OES meets 8 p. m. tomorrow in the Masonic Temple.

Wife Preservers

A small-size magnetic knifeholder in your bathroom will keep nail files, tweezers, nail clippers, safety pins, etc., in easy reach.

TAXPAYER
DEAR TAXPAYER: I agree that this decision should have been left to each parent. But your boy had better overcome his shyness about nudity in the presence of other boys or he is likely to be miserable much of his life.

DEAR ABBY: My husband says I am unreasonable because I do not approve of his having one night a week "out with the boys." Before you tell me off I want to explain what his "night out with the boys" entails. First of all, these "boys" have no names or addresses. They just "bum around." I wouldn't object if he went bowling with the boys, went to a movie or had dinner with the "boys" or even if he played cards — if I knew the "boys" and where they went. I think you are beginning to get the picture. How do I handle this? I hate to call it quits and throw him out because we have a family.

Co-Pilot Dies As Chartered Plane Falls

CHICAGO (AP)—A chartered DC-3 airplane, trying to make a landing at O'Hare International Airport in misty weather, crashed into a house late Sunday night, killing the copilot. The pilot and 28 passengers escaped.

The pilot, who with the copilot was trapped in the cockpit about two hours, was reported in critical condition in a hospital. But the passengers, returning from a day of skiing in Michigan, escaped without serious injuries.

The two-engine plane crashed through utility lines and into a home in a residential district in suburban Hoffman Estates. Six persons in the home asleep on the second floor miraculously escaped injury. They were rescued by firemen and hospitalized for shock.

The passengers, 23 men and 5 women, walked from the plane minutes after it plowed through the rear of the two-story bi-level home of Victor Gohbski. There was no fire. The plane did not overturn, but part of a wing was ripped off as it landed.

The pilot, Virgil Provost, 40, of suburban Alsip, was rescued by firemen nearly two hours after the plane crashed shortly before midnight. A few minutes later firemen recovered the body of copilot Daniel Jordan of Gary, Ind.

68 WEDS 34—Israel's Premier Levi Eshkol, 68, and his wife, the former Miriam Zelikovitch, 34, pose after their wedding at his home in Jerusalem. She is senior parliamentary librarian.

Try this if your hands become messy when greasing cake pans, cookie sheets or casseroles. Slip your hand into a waxed bag "mitten", pinch off a piece of butter or margarine and grease. It's easy to get into all the corners. When you are through just toss your disposable mitten away.

Even when you wear an apron when washing dishes, dresses can get wet. Protect your dress from the unscheduled bath by pinning a piece of plastic to the underside of your cotton apron.

If you're yearning for contour bed sheets and aren't ready to replace your current supply here is a simple method to convert them to contour type. Tie a knot in each corner of your sheet and tuck the knots under the mattress. This does a fine job of keeping the bottom sheet taut.

Zipper aren't apt to be so troublesome if you make sure they are zipped shut when you put clothes into the washer.

When you are planning to broil liver, have it sliced from 1/4-to 1/2-inch thick.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

SCHOOL BOYCOTT: A Negro leader has set April 20 for a one-day boycott of Washington public schools. He predicts half of the city's 133,000 public school pupils will participate.

Some 85.7 per cent of the district's public school pupils are Negroes.

Julius Hobson, southeast regional officer and Washington chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality, said Sunday that on two days, children will be brought in buses from crowded to under capacity schools.

The week-long drive, Hobson said, will also include mass sit-ins and picketing aimed at equalizing and improving education in the capital.

FRANCE-SOUTHEAST ASIA: The French Foreign Minister says he doesn't believe the countries of Europe and the United States are prepared to fight a major war for Southeast Asia.

"Therefore we think that the solution is neutrality—not neutralism, neutrality," said Maurice Couve de Murville in a copyrighted interview published today in the magazine "U.S. News & World Report."

The alternative to neutrality in Southeast Asia, "in our opinion," he said, "would be communism rather than anything else."

Asked if he felt military solution is impossible, he replied: "I don't think that the situation in Southeast Asia can be maintained indefinitely by means of force."

Circleville Garden Club Holds Session

Members of the Circleville Garden Club conducted its latest meeting in the home of Mrs. Leora Sayre, 410 E. Main St. Mrs. Donald H. Watt was assisting hostess.

Roll call was answered by displaying or describing a special treasure in the garden or flower category.

Mrs. Watt, president, announced the following coming events: The Ohio Association of Garden Clubs Gardeners and Exhibitors Clinics, April 1-8-15 at Prairie Lincoln School, Columbus; Regional all-day meeting of District 9 May 6 at the 4-H and Grange Building, Pickaway County Fairgrounds with Monrovia Garden Club as hosts; Pickaway County Council of Garden Club June all-day meeting and flower show, Commercial Point.

Members will subscribe to "Garden Notes" a monthly newsletter published by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service.

Mrs. Darrell Hatfield reviewed a lecture and demonstration given by Mrs. Harry Gwiner, Atlanta, Ga., teacher for the National Council of Garden Clubs' Judging Schools. Mrs. Sayre reported on the Pickaway County Councils' meeting at Five Points.

Members who volunteered in the voter registration tele-contact reported all phone calls completed.

Mrs. E. A. Smith had high score in the horticulture tree quiz. Mrs. Watt told of ways to use herbs in various recipes and Mrs. Smith reviewed her experiences at her bird feeding stations.

For the design of the month Mrs. Watt presented a hogarth arrangement and Mrs. Sayre a horizontal arrangement.

Members of the Child Advancement Club attended Trinity Lutheran Church Lenten Service last week and then held a meeting in the home of Mrs. Joe Smith, 227 Cedar Heights Road.

Mrs. Paul Johnson, Woodland Drive, presented the program and reviewed the book, "The Women of the Old Testament."

Mrs. C. H. Steinhauser, president, conducted the business meeting. She reported on the District Spring Conference of the CCL to be held April 18. The group made final plans to serve the dinner Wednesday at Bowling Stockyards.

The following slate of officers was presented: Mrs. Jack Wise, president; Mrs. Paul Hoskins, vice president; Mrs. Gene Wright, recording secretary; Mrs. James Salyer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Joe Smith, treasurer.

Mrs. Robert Young distributed parts for the play "Press the Buzzer and Be Seated" to be presented at the May meeting.

Mrs. Ned A. Reichelderfer was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Young presented a reading.

Refreshments were served to eight members and one guest, Mrs. Maynard Marshall, by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Darl McAfee.

NCAA Tourney Starts Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A doubleheader in Dallas and a three-game affair in Philadelphia tonight open the long, spread-out NCAA basketball tournament that reaches a climax in Kansas City March 21.

Other first round games in the 25-team field that was completed just last Saturday are scheduled in Evanston, Ill., and Eugene, Ore., Tuesday.

The first round pairings in Philadelphia have Connecticut, 14-10, vs. Temple, 17-7; Princeton, 19-7, vs. Virginia Military, 12-11; and Villanova 22-3, vs. Providence, 20-5.

At Dallas, it's Texas A&M, 18-6, vs. Texas Western, 23-2, and Creighton, 21-5, vs. Oklahoma City, 15-10.

At Evanston it's Louisville, 15-9, vs. Ohio U., 19-5; and defending champion Chicago Loyola, 20-5, vs. Murray State, 15-8. The Eugene games have Utah

Palmer Gets Favorite Nod In Playoff

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer had the record going for him today as he teed off against Gary Player and Miller Barber in an 18-hole playoff for $4,000 in the Pensacola Open golf championship.

Palmer, gunning for his second straight Pensacola Open title and third in five years, has won 11 of his 40 championships on the PGA tour in playoffs. Player has lost every one of the seven playoffs in which he has participated in the United States. Barber is competing in his first playoff.

The 34-year-old Palmer sank a pressure-packed seven-foot putt on the final green Sunday to get into the playoff on the 6,380-yard, par-72 Pensacola Country Club course. It gave him a 69 and a 14-under-par 274, the same scores posted by Player and Barber 15 minutes later.

The two losers in the playoff will receive $2,300 apiece while all three players will split half of the gross receipts. The tournament sponsors get the other 50 per cent.

Condition of Stag Reported as 'Poor'

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—The condition of football's grand old man, 101-year-old Amos Alonzo Stagg, remained poor as uremic poisoning and old age took their toll.

Spokesmen at Hillhaven Convalescent Home, where Stagg has been a patient for two years, said he spent a relatively comfortable Sunday afternoon although his temperature rose slightly.

Earlier he was given fluids by mouth after two days of intravenous feeding.

Robby Feels Hit Streak Looms Ahead

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Frank Robinson is a batter who admits his hitting goes by streaks. He says he feels one coming on this year.

The Cincinnati Reds' star outfielder put on a performance of what he means Sunday — drive after drive over the 355-foot marker on the left field fence, and some even longer smashes over center field.

"When I have the feel of hitting, I'm not concerned about who is out there on the mound against me," he said later. "When I'm going good, I have the feeling I'll hit them all."

"Never saw the big guy look so good with the stick so early," said Manager Fred Hutchinson, remembering past seasons when Robinson started out with long slumps.

Last season, with several injuries thrown in, the slumps gave Robinson a .259 batting average—way down from .342 the year before and .323 in the 1961 pennant year.

Hutchinson's players have another day of batting practice ahead of them before the first intra-squad game Tuesday. The Reds' first exhibition game is March 14.

Fyffe Is Guest At Syracuse U.

Duke Fyffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dessel Fyffe, 405 Ruth Ave., visited Syracuse University in New York during the weekend.

Fyffe, an outstanding fullback with the Circleville High School football team the past three seasons, was interviewed for a possible athletic scholarship at Syracuse. He made the trip by plane.

The CHS athlete is a senior this year.

Leaders Hold Up In Ladies' Test

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The past weekend's competitors in the 38th Ohio Woman's Bowling Association handicap tournament failed to dislodge the first-placers in any event.

Still leading in singles is Dorothy Boyer of Toledo with 696 pins. Frances Kreider of Greenville and Betty Cook of Union City are first in doubles with 1290.

Team leader is House of Drugs of Franklin with 3074, and first in all-events (scratch) is Bobbie Lipman of Cleveland with 1729.

Wall Wins Another Caribbean Tourney

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Art Wall Jr., seldom a winner since 1959, when he was named Golfer of the Year, is back in business today after a near sweep of the Caribbean winter circuit.

The 40-year-old pro from Pocomo Manor, Pa., outshot young Jay Dolan in four extra holes Sunday and won the Puerto Rico Open. The victory was Wall's third in four tournaments on the southern swing, giving him the over-all point title.

Local Motorcycle Buff Enters Daytona Race

Bob Lemaster, 401 Ruth Ave., is one of seven Ohio riders entered in the amateur class of the Daytona Motorcycle Classics, scheduled Friday at Daytona Beach, Fla.

Lemaster is also entered in a combined class. It marks the second year he has entered the Daytona classic.

Club-Wielding Policemen Keep Peace in Church

CLEVELAND (AP) — The scene was tense. Club-wielding policemen patrolled hallways. There was shoving and booing, and some of the people had spent the night in the building to make sure it would be open in the morning.

That was the scene at St. Sava's Serbian Orthodox Church in suburban Parma, where a four-hour service was conducted Sunday by the Very Rev. Branko Jusonjic in defiance of a mother church order suspending him.

Father Jusonjic's group supports an independent patriarchate of the U.S. and Canadian churches which Bishop Dionisije Milivojevic of Libertyville, Ill., set up last May. The bishop was removed from office by the mother church in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and was accused of mismanagement of church property and funds. His supporters countered with allegations that the mother church has come under the influence of communism.

St. Sava's official board, which says some 300 members support its efforts to maintain ties with the mother church, padlocked the church Saturday to block an assembly scheduled for Sunday by Father Jusonjic's supporters.

Some 800 persons were on hand when the crowd reached its peak about noon Sunday. The boos came when members supporting the board sang the Lord's Prayer from the balcony in protest against a meeting held in the sanctuary by supporters of the pastor.

The meeting voided as illegal several previous church actions, including an increase in dues from $1 to $11. Father Jusonjic's group, which has set up its

Time Grows Short For Cincy Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Time is running out on the Cincinnati Royals' bid to grab the top spot in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division and the Boston Celtics aren't helping much either.

The Celtics shoved the idle Royals a full three games back on Sunday by whacking the Detroit Pistons 128-118. With each club having just four games left to play, the Celtics need only a split to clinch their eighth straight division title.

In other games Sunday, New York walloped Philadelphia 140-108, and St. Louis dumped Baltimore 135-117.

NCAA Tourney Starts Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A doubleheader in Dallas and a three-game affair in Philadelphia tonight open the long, spread-out NCAA basketball tournament that reaches a climax in Kansas City March 21.

Other first round games in the 25-team field that was completed just last Saturday are scheduled in Evanston, Ill. and Eugene, Ore. Tuesday.

The first round pairings in Philadelphia have Connecticut, 14-10, vs. Temple, 17-7; Princeton, 19-7, vs. Virginia Military, 12-11; and Villanova 22-3, vs. Providence, 20-5.

At Dallas, it's Texas A&M, 18-6, vs. Texas Western, 23-2, and Creighton, 21-5, vs. Oklahoma City, 15-10.

At Evanston it's Louisville, 15-9, vs. Ohio U., 19-5; and defending champion Chicago Loyola, 20-5, vs. Murray State, 15-8. The Eugene games have Utah

Palmer Gets Favorite Nod In Playoff

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer had the record going for him today as he teed off against Gary Player and Miller Barber in an 18-hole playoff for $4,000 in the Pensacola Open golf championship.

Palmer, gunning for his second straight Pensacola Open title and third in five years, has won 11 of his 40 championships on the PGA tour in playoffs. Player has lost every one of the seven playoffs in which he has participated in the United States. Barber is competing in his first playoff.

The 34-year-old Palmer sank a pressure-packed seven-foot putt on the final green Sunday to get into the playoff on the 6,380-yard, par-72 Pensacola Country Club course. It gave him a 69 and a 14-under-par 274, the same scores posted by Player and Barber 15 minutes later.

The two losers in the playoff will receive $2,300 apiece while all three players will split half of the gross receipts. The tournament sponsors get the other 50 per cent.

Condition of Stagg Reported as 'Poor'

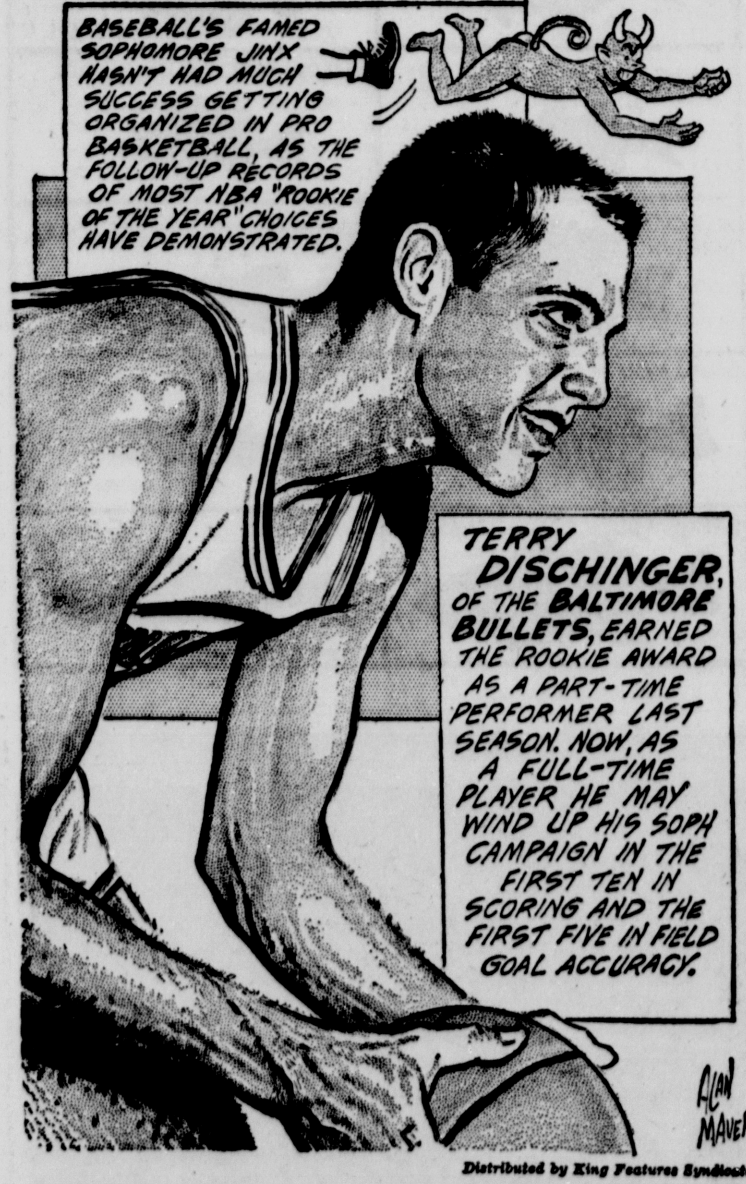

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—The condition of football's grand old man, 101-year-old Amos Alonzo Stagg, remained poor as uremic poisoning and old age took their toll.

Spokesmen at Hillhaven Convalescent Home, where Stagg has been a patient for two years, said he spent a relatively comfortable Sunday afternoon although his temperature rose slightly.

Earlier he was given fluids by mouth after two days of intravenous feeding.

The meeting voided as illegal several previous church actions, including an increase in dues from $1 to $11. Father Jusonjic's group, which has set up its own board, contends about half the church's 800 members are unable to pay the higher dues and as a result have lost membership status and the right to vote on church policy. The higher dues have enabled a "militant minority" to take control of the church, the group argues.

The official board says the dues increase was needed to pay off a $350,000 mortgage on the $750,000 building, which was dedicated last June.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Despite Ohio State's last-minute loss of a fifth-straight Big Ten title share, Buckeye basketeers may look back at the 1963-
64 campaign with a bit of pride.

The Bucks, needing only a victory over Michigan State to assure a slice of the Big Ten crown, bowed, 81-80, Saturday night. It was a heart-breaking finish for Gary Bradds, two-time
All-America and the nation's
No. 1 collegiate star.

But, on the statewide front,
there was cheerful news.
Ohio University nosed out Toledo, 82-76, in overtime to take the Mid-American championship and a berth in the NCAA Mideast tournament playoffs at Evanston, Ill. The Cats meet Louisville Tuesday—a team with which they traded earlier games.

Akron, after beating Wittenberg for the first time to take the Ohio Conference tournament tripped Ithaca and Le Moyne in the NCAA small college regional and moves on to Evansville, Ind., for the national finals this week.

In Bradds and Bowling
Green's Howard (Butch) Kom-ives, Ohio boasted two of the most exciting players in the nation.

Komives led the country in scoring, set a record of 50 free throws without a miss, climaxed his career with a 45 - point spurge against Marshall, and broke the Mid-American Conference career scoring record.

Bradds broke Robin Freeman's Ohio State scoring mark of 723 set in 1956, as he poured 735 points through the hoop. His 474 in conference games eclipsed the old record of 459 set two years ago by Terry Dischinger of Purdue. Gov. James A.
Rhodes took cognizance of Bradds' feats by proclaiming him honorary governor of Ohio.

Joining Ohio U. in the conference championship races were Wittenberg in the Ohio loop with 13-1 and Wilmington in the Mid-
Ohio with 7-1.

Huge Hawaii Mormon Center Major College Development

Church College of Hawaii, rising from scratch a few years ago, is now one of the major new college developments in the world.

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HONOLULU, Hawaii — Not since the first waves of missionaries came into the Hawaiian Islands in the early 19th century has a religious order created more of a stir than have the Mormons in the last few years with completion of a college and Polynesian village, and their great temple on Oahu Island.

Nearly 1,000 students are enrolled this year on the 63-acre campus valued at $7 million, which is an increase from only 150 in 1955.

The new campus of Church College of Hawaii, dedicated in 1958, is one of the most spectacular higher educational developments in the entire Pacific periphery. It includes a central court of 10 major interconnected buildings and surrounding gymnasium, industrial arts, recreational and dormitory facilities.

The students are both Mormons and non-members, from the Pacific Islands, the Orient, the mainland United States and other parts of the world.

Adjacent to the Hawaiian town of Laie, 38 miles across the island from Honolulu, is a veritable "Disneyland" of Polynesia which the Mormons have built to preserve examples of leading Pacific cultures in Hawaiian, Tongan, Fijian, Samoan, Tahitian and Maori villages. Admission fees will provide scholarships to the college.

There is no doubt that the Mormons have created in their Polynesian Cultural Center one of the prime tourist "musts" of the entire hemisphere, and in this respect they have gotten the drop on all other religious and cultural groups in the 50th state.

Regular helicopter service from Honolulu will be instituted soon, leap-frogging the great lava spine where in 1795 the "Napoleon of Polynesia," Kamehameha the Great, reputedly pushed his last rivals for unification of the Hawaiian Islands over the black cliffs to their doom.

Since 1919 at Laie the Mormons have maintained their seventh temple in the church, and the first outside the U.S. mainland. Today this mammoth structure towers over the coral fringed shoreline in almost as imposing a fashion as does the Mormon Temple itself in Salt Lake City, the heartland of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter-day Saints.

The first 10 Mormon missionaries arrived relatively late in Hawaii, on Dec. 12, 1850, aboard a sailing vessel, the Imaum of Muscat, compared with March 31, 1820, when the first company of New England missionaries found a landfall there and started clothing the grass-skirted natives in "kolokus" or muumuu, their version of the mother Hubbard gown.

However, they lost no time, and in four years there were more than four thousand Latter Day Saints in Hawaii, most of them native islanders, with branches of the church flourishing on all the inhabited islands.

The huge current construction is an activity of the unique labor missionary program in which experienced builders train craftsmen on the job. The Mormons explain that one reason for their intense interest in Polynesia comes straight from the Book of Mormon, transcribed from the famous Golden Plates by the founder, Joseph Smith, himself. It contains a record of what many Mormons believe explains the origin of the Polynesian people.

This is the account of a shipbuilder, Hageith, who sailed 10 natural currents from the west coast of South America to the Pacific Islands, on a route traveled recently by such explorer-writers as Thor Heyerdahl, Devere Baker and others.

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Hell Walkers," on NBC's "Show of the Week," began as a suspense story Sunday night, then changed course abruptly to become a meandering psychological drama.

The tale opened with a middle-aged German nervously preparing to leave prison after 15 years, with no place to go and no family left except a daughter of whom he had lost track. He is puzzled by a postcard he has just received that notes, "Remember, remember the fifth of September."

So far, so good. Particularly since we are quickly introduced to a terribly British fellow who obviously is one of those clever, suave agents preparing to pursue the freed man.

The suspense is over fast. The British fellow immediately informs the German that he has been hired to pursue him—to hunt him the rest of his life. A Dutch millionaire wants revenge for the death of his child in a concentration camp where the German was garrison commander.

The rest of the play traces the growth of an obsession about the dead child and the need for repentance, not in the old Nazi but in his tormenter.

Curt Jurgens made a sane, sad and sympathetic character of the German, John Mills was more dramatic but less believable as the Englishman.

Lucille Ball is not only returning to CBS next fall but has signed a three-year contract. The network plans next season to have her program follow the "Andy Griffith Show."

President Johnson will sit down for an hour-long informal interview in the White House Saturday for television broadcast Sunday. It will be a pool effort available to all networks, with CBS producing.

WHO IS "MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN?"

DICK WEBER, whose unusual arm swing resembles a pendulum when he shoots, was named Bowler of the Year and won the All-Star title, each for the second time. He won most money, $52,600, on last year's tour, despite the fact he is 5 ft. 9 in. and weighs only 125 pounds —without the ball!

What about Midgets?

ROME (AP)—There's never any argument on Rome buses about whether a child is still young enough to ride free or must pay the fare. If the child's head is higher than the ticket seller's shelf, the fare must be paid. If the child doesn't stand that tall (one meter, or 39 inches) he rides free.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the Division of Water, of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio, at 114 West Franklin Street, until 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday, 18 March 1964 for the following: on a unit price, if, and when, needed basis:

Cast iron pipe, valves, fittings and specialties, in accordance with specifications on file in the office of the manager.

Each and every bid must contain the full name of every person, or company interested in the same and be accompanied by a bond with an approved surety company, in the sum of $100.00, or a certified check on some solvent bank, drawn and made payable to The City of Circleville, Ohio, as a guaranty that if any bid is accepted contract will be entered into and its performance secured in the proper manner. Should any bid be rejected such bond or check will be returned to the bidder, and should any bid be accepted such bond or check will be returned to the bidder upon proper execution and securing of the contract. The successful bidder, if any, will be required to execute the contract within 10 days after the award of the same to him. In case of failure to execute the contract as stated the bidder will be considered to have abandoned the contract, and the bond or check accompanying the bid shall be forfeited to the City.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

By authority of Council of The City of Circleville, Ohio, dated 18th day of February 1964.

Huge Hawaii Mormon Center Major College Development

Church College of Hawaii, rising from scratch a few years ago, is now one of the major new college developments in the world.

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HONOLULU, Hawaii — Not since the first waves of missionaries came into the Hawaiian Islands in the early 19th century has a religious order created more of a stir than have the Mormons in the last few years with completion of a college and Polynesian village, and their great temple on Oahu Island.

Nearly 1,000 students are enrolled this year on the 63-acre campus valued at $7 million, which is an increase from only 150 in 1955.

The new campus of Church College of Hawaii, dedicated in 1958, is one of the most spectacular higher educational developments in the entire Pacific periphery. It includes a central court of 10 major interconnected buildings and surrounding gymnasium, industrial arts, recreational and dormitory facilities.

The students are both Mormons and non-members, from the Pacific Islands, the Orient, the mainland United States and other parts of the world.

Adjacent to the Hawaiian town of Laie, 38 miles across the island from Honolulu, is a veritable "Disneyland" of Polynesia which the Mormons have built to preserve examples of leading Pacific cultures in Hawaiian, Tongan, Fijian, Samoan, Tahitian and Maori villages. Admission fees will provide scholarships to the college.

There is no doubt that the Mormons have created in their Polynesian Cultural Center one of the prime tourist "musts" of the entire hemisphere, and in this respect they have gotten the drop on all other religious and cultural groups in the 50th state.

Regular helicopter service from Honolulu will be instituted soon, leap-frogging the great lava spine where in 1795 the "Napoleon of Polynesia", Kamehameha the Great, reputedly pushed his last rivals for unification of the Hawaiian Islands over the black cliffs to their doom.

Since 1919 at Laie the Mormons have maintained their seventh temple in the church, and the first outside the U.S. mainland. Today this mammoth structure towers over the coral fringed shoreline in almost as imposing a fashion as does the Mormon Temple itself in Salt Lake City, the heartland of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter-day Saints.

The first 10 Mormon missionaries arrived relatively late in Hawaii, on Dec. 12, 1850, aboard a sailing vessel, the Imaum of Muscat, compared with March 31, 1820, when the first company of New England missionaries found a landfall there and started clothing the grass-skirted natives in "kolokos" or mumuus, their version of the mother Hubbard gown.

However, they lost no time, and in four years there were more than four thousand Latter Day Saints in Hawaii, most of them native islanders, with branches of the church flourishing on all the inhabited islands.

The huge current construction is an activity of the unique labor missionary program in which experienced builders train craftsmen on the job.

The Mormons explain that one reason for their intense interest in Polynesia comes straight from the Book of Mormon, transcribed from the famous Golden Plates by the founder, Joseph Smith, himself. It contains a record of what many Mormons believe explains the origin of the Polynesian people.

This is the account of a shipbuilder, Hagoth, who sailed 10 natural currents from the west coast of South America to the Pacific Islands, on a route traveled recently by such explorer-writers as Thor Heyerdahl, Devere Baker and others.

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Hell Walkers," on NBC's "Show of the Week," began as a suspense story Sunday night, then changed course abruptly to become a meandering psychological drama.

The tale opened with a middle-aged German nervously preparing to leave prison after 15 years, with no place to go and no family left except a daughter of whom he had lost track. He is puzzled by a postcard he has just received that notes, "Remember, remember the fifth of September."

So far, so good. Particularly since we are quickly introduced to a terribly British fellow who obviously is one of those clever, suave agents preparing to pursue the freed man.

The suspense is over fast. The British fellow immediately informs the German that he has been hired to pursue him—to haunt him the rest of his life. A Dutch millionaire wants revenge for the death of his child in a concentration camp where the German was garrison commander.

The rest of the play traces the growth of an obsession about the dead child and the need for repentance, not in the old Nazi but in his tormenter.

Curt Jurgens made a sane, sad and sympathetic character of the German, John Mills was more dramatic but less believable as the Englishman.

Lucille Ball is not only returning to CBS next fall but has signed a three-year contract. The network plans next season to have her program follow the "Andy Griffith Show." It preceded Andy's show this season.

President Johnson will sit down for an hour-long informal interview in the White House Saturday for television broadcast Sunday. It will be a pool effort available to all networks, with CBS producing.

ROME (AP)—There's never any argument on Rome buses about whether a child is still young enough to ride free or must pay the fare. If the child's head is higher than the ticket seller's shelf, the fare must be paid. If the child doesn't stand that tall (one meter, or 39 inches) he rides free.

Harsha Blames Ag Situation On Government Intervention

Rep. William J. Harsha, Ohio Sixth Congressional District, told a National Farmers Organization group at Ashville Saturday that government should gradually withdraw from agriculture.

Harsha said the government doesn't know how to farm. "The present condition of agriculture can be blamed on government intervention," he added.

However, he pointed out that under the present system it could be disastrous for the government to suddenly drop all forms of farm subsidies.

He told this to 33 farmers including the board of directors of the Sixth Congressional District NFO present for a meeting held prior to a supper and an evening speech by Harsha in the Teays Valley School.

PURPOSE of the meeting, according to Robert Drummond, president of the district NFO, was to familiarize Harsha with the organization.

Harsha told those present there seemed to be a general lack of knowledge of the purposes of the NFO in Washington.

He, in turn, told the directors of the problems he faced as the district's representative, pointing out there were numerous farm organizations. He said many seem to have widely separated objectives.

In the evening speech, Rep. Harsha discussed the beef import situation and how it affects farm income. Some informed sources estimate current beef imports are depressing the cattle market $1 to $3 a hundred.

He noted he was in sharp disagreement with the voluntary quota agreements with beef importing nations.

Harsha said he had introduced legislation that would establish import quotas.

Drummond said he had anticipated a larger turnout than the 325 persons who were in attendance.

Solon Raps Pay Raise for Congressmen

Rep. William H. Harsha said he was definitely opposed to a portion of a bill scheduled to be introduced in Congress next week that would give congressmen pay increases of $10,000.

He said the bill, which also encompasses a raise for postal and civil service employees in government is "hypocritical."

"How can we enact legislation reducing taxes and preach economy in government and then turn around and give ourselves what amounts to a 44 per cent increase in pay?"

He noted he was in favor of the portion of the bill granting increases to civil service and postal. But he stated he would vote against the bill if it still contained the clause granting pay increases to congressmen.

Speeders Top Traffic Docket In City Court

Motorists charged with exceeding the speed limit dominated Circleville Municipal Court's completed traffic docket today.

Appearing was Charles W. Wood, 19, Kingston. He entered a plea of guilty to a charge of speeding 80 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone and was fined $50 and costs by Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Waiving court hearings and paying fines levied were:

Kenneth L. Wellman, 43, Ashland, Ky.; $20 and costs for speeding 80 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Beverly D. Robinson, 21, Chillicothe; $19 bond forfeiture for driving a car with a faulty muffler.

GROUND BREAKING — The Rev. Paul Wachs lifts the first shovel of dirt during a groundbreaking ceremony yesterday in observance of a new educational unit that will be constructed by the First Methodist Church. On the left is Dr. Robert Burton, chairman of the Church Building Committee. Also taking part was Dr. Stanley Jeffries, who offered a short meditation during the special services. The old parsonage on Pickaway St. has been demolished to make way for the new addition to the church.

Firemen Answer Field, Car Calls

Circleville Firemen were summoned twice Saturday evening within a period of about an hour.

The first call was at 5:45 to an area near the office of Dr. Paul Teegardin, 1165 N. Court St. Firemen said the blaze in a nearby field was caused by burning trash. No loss was reported.

The second call came at 6:35 when a gasoline line broke on a car owned by Mabel Metzger at Dunkel Road and Walnut Creek Pike. Damage was estimated at $25.

Air Traffic Control Subject For Circleville Flying Assn.

When a huge multi-engine jetliner and a dinky little Piper Cub come winging in for simultaneous landings at Port Columbus, what does the traffic policeman do?

The question will be answered in detail here Wednesday night by air traffic control officials of the Columbus municipal airport.

Brought here by the Circleville Flying Assn., the controllers will appear at the instruction meeting scheduled for 8 p. m. in the party room at Prairie Lanes.

Robert Litter, president of the Association, said there would be no admission charge. He stressed that the general public is urged to attend.

THE Port Columbus officials will make a two-fold presentation of modern air traffic problems and solutions. Motion pictures will be shown and a roundtable discussion period will follow. The instruction will cover both visual control tower procedures and radar control techniques.

If time permits, Dr. Ray Carroll, education chairman for the association, will give instruction on the magnetic compass to wind up the evening's program.

Litter said refreshments will be served.

Richard Pettit, secretary-treasurer of the flying association, pointed out that the group has no membership fee schedule and is open to pilots and non-pilots alike. Chief purposes of the organization are to promote Circleville's role in the field of aviation, interest more local residents in actual flying and to provide instruction in aviation safety.

Pettit said attendance at past meetings had averaged about 50 persons. He added that the number of women interested in the local aviation group was increasing.

Four Are Given Emergency Aid

David Webb, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Webb, 109 Dunmore Road, received emergency aid in Berger Hospital during the weekend after he pushed his right hand through a storm door and lacerated his finger. A total of four persons were treated and released.

Jim Arledge, 29, of 416 Washington St., suffered an injury to his nose when he was struck by a horse at the Fairgrounds.

Jeff Spires, 7, of 321 S. Washington St., fell in his garage and fractured his right wrist.

Barbara Dixon, 26, of 134 Nicholas Drive, lacerated a finger of her right hand when a glass broke while she was washing dishes.
